WEATHER.

U. S. Department of Agriculture,
Weather Bureau,
Toledo, O., 8 a. m., Feb. 3, 1892.

The local forecast for to-day is cloudy, probable flurries of snow, slight change of temperature.

For Thursday—Fair, slightly cooler.

The storm central near Toledo yesterday is now off the New England coast. Rains of one-half inch and over fell yesterday at Port Huron, Oswego, Buffalo, Albany and Boston. Snow is falling this morning at LaCrosse, Manistee, Albany, and Boston, and will likely fall to-day in the entire lake region. Rain or snow fell last night east and west of this parallel.

Clearing weather is anticipated to-night and will continue Thursday and Friday with a slight change in temperature. The temperature will not likely go lower than to 20 degrees this week. The highest on the man this morning was 56 degrees along the gulf coast; the lowest was 10 degrees above along the northern border; it has risen slightly west of the Mississippi river and fallen a few degrees east of it.

The warmest in Toledo yesterday was 43 degrees; the coldest this morning was 31 degrees. Total rainfall yesterday 0.12 of an inch.

DRAWING THE LINE

Interesting Question to be Settled in London.

Where Freedom of Speech Should Stop.

Chelsea Socialist Cases to be Heard.

Some Hope of Saving the Wrecked Eider.

The Czar and His Cabinet Members Getting Into a Tangle—All the News of the Old World for Readers of the Bee.

London, Feb. 3.—Sir Charles Russell, in the queen's bench this morning, moved that an order be granted to remove the Chelsea socialist cases from the county court to the higher court of justice, and that they be tried before a special jury.

Sir Charles, during the course of his argument, said that for years past socialists and others have been accustomed to hold open air meetings at the World's End square, Chelsea, and that they have not been interfered with so long as the people present behaved in an orderly manner. Recently, he added, the police seem to have thought themselves bound to interfere with all such meetings and nearly every Sunday for months past have been arresting people for alleged violations of the laws regarding the holding of such meetings. A great question, Sir Charles continued, was involved in these arrests and the matter must be sifted to the utmost, as there was no doubt in his mind that the rights of the community had been gravely interfered with.

The order asked for was granted.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the London Liberal and Radical union recently, the following resolutions on the subject was unanimously passed:

"First, That the executive committee is prepared forthwith to render pecuniary assistance to enable an application to be made to remove the proceedings against Pearson into the queen's bench division in order that the legal questions which are involved may be satisfactorily raised.

Second, That the committee proceed to organize a deputation to the home secretary to be composed of representatives of all bodies interested in the maintenance of the right or open air meetings in London, with a view to procure a reasonable arrangement consistent at once to the maintenance of such right and with the preservation of order, pending the transfer of the control of the police and the regulation of such public meetings to the county or district councils.

Third, That having regard to this proposed action, the committee earnestly deprecate the holding of the projected mass meeting at the World's End as being likely to prejudice the progress of the movement and to involve serious public disapproval."

THE WRECKED EIDER.

Another Attempt Will Be Made to Save the Steamer.

London, Feb. 3.—The North German Lloyd steamship Eider is still ashore on the rocks of Atherfield, Isle of Wight, and there is little or no prospect of ever seeing her afloat again, as previously intimated in these dispatches.

Capt. Henecke and the 25 men who remained on board the stranded steamship throughout the night are still holding the fort and managed to pass the night without any extraordinary discomfort.

All the mail bags have not yet been landed, though 80 more were forwarded to London at midnight. Shortly after daybreak this morning the work of clearing the Eider of mails was recommenced. Strange to add, up to the time this message is sent, only one case of gold and not any of the large consignments of silver on board the Eider has been landed. The conduct of Capt. Henecke in regard to his passengers, mails and bullion, is causing much comment here, it being claimed that he could and should have landed them on Monday morning when the first lifeboat reached the wreck. On the other hand it is said the Eider's commander decided to await the instructions of the company's agents and the latter have notified him not to land the gold and silver consignments until he can place them safely on board the salvage steamers. Two of the latter vessels, furnished with complete outfits of wrecking appliances, are expected to reach the Eider durnig the day and everything possible will be done to lighten and float her into Southampton if possible.

The agents of the North German Lloyd company are even more hopeful than Capt. Henecke. They declare the position of the Eider is not hopeless and that there is a probability that the wrecking steamers will be able to get her off after she has been lightened and the holes in her bottom are temporarily stopped by the divers who are to be put to work for that purpose. Powerful steam pumps are to be set to work, and the agents believe the steamship will be buoyant enough to be towed into Southampton.

DISMISSED BY THE CZAR.

A Complication Arising in the Russian Cabinet.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 3.—A. T. Hubbenet, privy councillor and minister of ways and communications, has been dismissed from his place in the cabinet by the peremptory dictum of the czar.

It appears that Col. Wenderich, engaged under imperial direction in the inspection of Russian railways, found himself thwarted in his efforts to make a genuine inspection, and that the adverse influences came direct from the ministry of ways.

Councillor of State Witte, director of the department of railways, showed a sincere desire to sustain Col. Wenderich, but was himself obstructed by his superior, Minister Hubbenot, who seemed desirous of shielding corrupt and inefficient management of the railway lines. Witte sent his resignation to the czar.

The latter had Witte summoned before him and asked him the ground for his resignation. Witte thereupon told how he had been hampered and the work of inspection obtructed by Minister Hubbenet. The czar closely questioned Witte as to facts and circumstances, and caused documentary and other evidence to be sent for and submitted.

Two hours later came the order dismissing Hubbenet in disgrace. The czar sent for Col. Wenderich and said: "Do not mind how disagreeable they may make it for you. I am with you. Turn your back on them and go ahead thoroughly with your work." The radical action of the czar has caused dismay in corrupt official circles.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

H. H. Yard Must Answer for His Suspicious Transactions.

Philadelphia, Feb. 3.—H. H. Yard, who was arrested charged with aiding and abetting Gideon W. Marsh and Charles W. Lawrence in misapplication of the funds of the Keystone bank, was given a hearing to-day before United States Commissioner Bell.

Special Agent Barrett, of the United States treasury department, testified that Yard had received over $493,000 of the bank's funds.

At the conclusion of the testimony Yard was held for court, and his bail increased from $15,000 to $20,000.

BAD FOR THE "SOONERS."

Guthrie, O. T., Feb. 3.—The supreme court has rendered a very important decision in reference to the clause of the law opening Oklahoma, known as the "sooner" clause.

It provides that any person who entered the land before the hour of opening set by the president, should lose all rights to obtain title to any lands whatever.

The "sooner" clause was sustained, and all the "sooners" will lose their lands. The case will be appealed to the United States supreme court.

WARD WATERBURY HOME

The Little Fellow Tells a Straight Story

Of How He Was Lured Away From Home.

A Belief That Charles Waterbury, a Cousin, Was at the Bottom of the Scheme for the Money There Was in It.

Pound Ridge, N. Y., Feb. 3.—Eight-year-old Ward Waterbury, who was kidnaped from the vicinity of the school house near Long Ridge, Conn., Monday afternoon, and for whom his parents and the entire neighborhood have been searching far and near ever since, was brought home at 3 o'clock this morning by John Close, of Stanwich, Conn.

Mr. Close is a clam digger who lives not far from the Waterbury place, and who had heard of the kidnaping. At 2 o'clock this morning he was awakened by loud knocking on his door. When he opened the door he saw a little boy. "Who are you?" he asked.

"I'm Ward Waterbury and I want to go home," answered the child.

Mr. Close took the boy in and asked him how he got there. Ward replied that a man had brought him to the house on his back and told him to knock on the door. Then the man ran away. Mr. Close hitched up and drove the boy to Mr. Waterbury's house, reaching there at 3 a. m.

The family were all up and in great distress of mind. Their joy when the child was restored to them was beyond expression. After the boy had been hugged and kissed until everybody was tired out he told his story.

He said two plainly dressed men had stopped him near the school-house, told him he was a fine boy and asked him to show them to a certain place in the vicinity, which he did.

They then praised him again and said that if he would go a little further with them they would treat him handsomely for his pains. He kept on with them until he was too tired to walk. Then he wanted to go home, but the men roughly refused to let him go.

After he had fallen exhausted one of them put him on his back. While thus being carried Ward fell asleep in the darkness.

He awoke in a small and poorly furnished house, and was fed and put to bed. The next morning (Tuesday) he found the doors and windows barred. He was a prisoner, but was well fed and treated.

The men told him that as soon as his father sent them some money they would let him go. Tuesday night he was again put to bed and went to sleep but was awakened in the night and taken through woods and fields.

The two men took turns in carrying him. Finally one of the men disappeared. The other man dropped him in Mr. Close's yard and said he would wait while Ward knocked at the door, but while the boy was knocking the man ran away.

The boy cannot give a very good description of the kidnapers but said he would know them if he should see them again. They seemed disappointed when no one came to the house yesterday, where they had taken the boy. The boy was asked if he had seen his cousin Charles Waterbury.

The boy said he had not seen Charles Waterbury, the man who handed the letter to his father demanding ransom.

A common theory is that the kidnapers were employed by Charles, who told them to let the boy go when he saw that he could not get money out of the father without being discovered.

HAVE STRUCK A RICH LEAD

Pullman Sleeping Car Porters Arrested.

They Are Charged with Doing a Bottle Business Contrary to the Laws of the State.

Wichita, Ks., Feb. 3.—The Pullman car porters of trains running into Kansas are in dismay over the arrest of several of their number on charges of violating the prohibitory laws by selling liquor to the passengers.

Yesterday the sheriff of Harvey county arrested two porters at Burton, and as officers of the prohibition commitees have been collecting evidence for some time, it is expected that arrests by the wholesale will follow.

Two porters refused to go out of here on their trains yesterday when they heard of the arrest of two of their number.

KILLED BY ROBBERS.

Pine Bluff, Ark., Feb. 3.—The body of W. A. McKemie, station agent on the Wabbesaka, on the St. Louis Southwestern road, was found lying on the floor of the station yesterday morning by the crew of a train that stopped for orders. The agent had been shot through the heart by unknown parties who afterwards robbed the office. There is no clue.

Two Million Dollars Consumed by Flames.

Valparaiso and Santiago Residents Discuss the Resolution Asking for Egan's Recall.

Valparaiso, Feb. 3.—The resolution introduced in the house of representatives at Washington requesting President Harrison to recall Minister Egan was read with interest here and in Santiago.

Much surprise was expressed that such a resolution should be introduced.

The public feeling toward Mr. Egan in this country has undergone a complete change, and his attitude seems now to be better understood.

Mr. Egan was asked yesterday what he thought of the resolution, and replied as follows:

"I court a full investigation of my acts. I have no fear that anything detrimental to my reputation would be discovered.

"My actions throughout these difficulties have been approved by Secretary Blaine and the administration at Washington."

A crowd of young men on Monday night sacked the office of La Republica, a newspaper which has vigorously opposed the present regime. The police were not present to afford any protection.

During the past week there have been many large fires in Santiago, in which losses estimated at $2,000,000 have resulted. Insurance agents believe they were started by incendiaries.

THIRD PARTY MOVEMENT.

Polk and Stanford Dividing Honors for the Presidential Ticket.

Douglasville, Ga., Feb. 3.—The first third party demonstration was held here yesterday under the auspices of C. C. Post, the campaign leader of the party in the state.

He says that the party intends to cut off all relationship with the two leading parties.

There will be a full state ticket, with C. H. Ellington for governor. There will also be an electoral ticket in the state next November.

L. L. Polk and Leland Stanford are looked upon as the probable candidates for the presidency and vice presidency.

CLEAR AROUND THE GLOBE.

Interesting News From China and Japan.

Over Four Hundred Lives Lost in Shipwrecks—Rebels Defeated in a Bloody Battle.

San Francisco, Feb. 3.—The steamship China has arrived, 21 days from Hong Kong.

Admiral of H. M. S. Porpoise went to the scene of the sinking of the steamer Namehow off Cupchi point, and made a brief report from Swatow January 11 to the effect that there were 400 Chinese and six Europeans on board, and that all were lost except 29 Chinese who saved themselves in the ship's boats and were brought to Cupchi in junks. The Porpoise made a search in the vicinity for wreckage without result.

Eleven lives were lost in the wreck of the steamship Marie, December 13, off Che Foo, during a fog. The vessel carried a general cargo of merchandise. The second officer, third engineer and nine Chinese sailors perished.

The Chinese papers announce the issuance of an imperial decree January 4 announcing the overthrow of rebels at Ngo-Hon-Chi, Chang Kao and Pai-Tse-Fu in northern China. The decree states that the imperial forces under Gen. Nies Sezhing and others made a combined attack on Pai-Tse-Fu, the old center of the rebellion, December 18. The town was carried by storm and Wang Ching and other rebel chiefs killed. Cavalry pursued the fleeing rebels, killing 300 of them and capturing a large number of guns and ammunition. At Hesia-Crang Kao the rebels fled when the cannon of the imperial forces opened fire. Wang Fau and two other rebel chiefs were killed on the field of battle as were also 1,000 rebels, who were hunted down and put to the swords without reserve. Heng-Tek-Kwong, the stragetic adviser of the rebels, was captured alive. The emperor recommended for promotion a number of generals who distinguished themselves on that occasion.

On Jan. 7 a second decree was issued stating the troops under Gens. Yu Luk and Ting-An had obtained a series of victories and succeeded in suppressing the insurgents at Chaoyang.

The main bodies of the rebels have been extirpated and the troops were at the time engaged hunting fugitive rebels. From Dec. 9 to Dec. 22 six engagements took place at various points, resulting in the defeat of the rebels in every case. The Kon-Kon-Tse stronghold was broken up and the commander-in-chief of the Van-Sun-Fat and 300 rebels were captured, together with great quantities of stores of war. The other rebels fled to the city of U-Tan, but with the help of the Chihli troops who were proceeding to the scene from the eastward, it was thought the imperial forces on the ground would have no difficulty in extirpating them. The disturbances in the provinces of Kwei-Chow have been subdued, a number of rebels being killed. The ringleaders were captured and decapitated.

Japanese advices state that an imperial decree issued Jan. 11 calling for election on Feb. 15 of members for the new house of representatives. It is reported the new diet will convene April 15.

A violent shock of earthquake was felt Jan. 3 at Gifu, Nagoya and vicinity, the scene of the late great earthquake. Three houses were thrown to the ground in Nagoya. The earth was rent in a number of places and from the fissures muddy water exuded. A number of houses were damaged but no one was injured.

On Jan. 9 fire at Shizuoka destroyed 1,500 buildings. There was no loss of life.

THE FRENCH TARIFF.

It Is Causing Uneasiness in Business Circles.

Paris, Feb. 3.—The new tariff has caused a general disorganization of business connected with the import trade.

The authorities are overwhelmed with protests from people who claim that their goods ought to have been admitted under the old rate. In some cases these claims depend upon the question of whether the arrival of a vessel could be entered before it was actually in port.

At the land frontiers also there has been great trouble. The Germans who send sheep to the Paris market have cut down the usual number to one-half, owing to the customs tariff, and this has caused an advance in prices.

There is a disposition on the part of many tradesmen to advance prices on goods not affected by the tariff, partly out of a desire to make money and partly to make the tariff unpopular. This course is strongly condemned by public opinion, and an effort may be made to reach the offenders by legislation.

A WORD OF WARNING.

A Circular from U. S. Hall on the Coming Convention.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 3.—Hon. William S. McAllister, chairman of the national anti-sub-treasury alliance, promulgates the following paper from Hon. U. S. Hall, a member of his committee, to the membership in Missouri and makes it general:

Hubbard, Randolph county, Feb. 1.

To the Members of the Farmers' and Laborers' Union of Missouri:

Brothers: Be on your guard. Do not allow yourselves to be committed or compromised or entangled politically. The meeting that is to be held in St. Louis, Mo., on the 22d of this month, under the so-called authority of the national farmers' alliance is for that sole purpose. We did not empower that body to dictate to us how we should vote nor to commit or bind us by recommendation or otherwise to any political party, and any attempt to do so is without authority and is a violation of every principle of our order. U. S. Hall.

ALL SAVED.

New York, Feb. 3.—Commissioner Brennan this afternoon received a message from Delaware breakwater saying that the schooner Servia had rescued the two men supposed to have been lost with scow No. 2. This completes the list of 18 men who were driven to sea by the gale last Wednesday.

RIOT BY THE PRISONERS

Deer Island Convicts Refused to Work

And the Policemen Applied Their Clubs.

Considerable of a Sensation Was Caused for a Few Hours in Boston This Morning.

Boston, Feb. 3.—It is reported that a riot of great proportions is in progress at Deer Island, and that the city's steamer, the Putnam Bradlee, has been seized by the prisoners to prevent its being used as a means of access to the city.

Sixty officers from station No. 2 and 50 officers from station 8 are at the island.

It is said that the first squad from station 2 was unable to cope with the prisoners and that assistance was telephoned for. A rumor that the Bradlee is now on its way to the city crowded with prisoners, is discredited at police headquarters, where it is the general opinion that the rumors are much exaggerated.

The riot is said to be the outcome of the recent dissatisfaction among the prisoners.

The first news of the trouble was received by Deputy Superintendent of Police Dill in the form of a telephone message from Superintendent Gerry at the island. It is stated that the men had refused to go to work when ordered to at 7 o'clock and were threatening the officers' lives.

A detail of men from the various stations was immediately sent down on the police boat, and their arrival there has been announced by Capt. Bragdon, who has notified headquarters that more men are needed, and that the trouble was serious.

Soon after 10 o'clock the trouble appeared to be practically at an end. It was at that hour when the superintendent of police received a message from Capt. Bragdon. He stated that when the police arrived at Deer Island a large number of convicts were gathered in the "loafer's hall" and that a request for them to keep quiet and go about their day's work was not sufficient and that they then began making a tumult and to resist the police.

The latter drew their clubs and it was but the work of a short time before the mob was under subjection. In his telephone message the captain intimated that quiet had been so far restored that he will probably soon send about 25 officers back to the city, the remainder being kept at the island for awhile in case of emergency.

SUBMARINE MINE.

Lieutenant Marshall's Scheme for Coast Defense.

Newport, R. I., Feb. 3.—A submarine mine for coast or harbor defense, the invention of Lieut. Marshall, of the United States navy, was tested here yesterday.

In shape the mine is more like a coffin than a cask and is made of sheet iron. Its total weight is 480 pounds. It contains a charge of gun cotton equivalent of 102 pounds of dry gun cotton. The gun is so constructed that it may be fired from shore or by contact at will. The test yesterday was in every way a most perfect success.

THE HOLY MOSES MINES.

A Million Dollars Has Been Offered for Them.

Five Million Dollars' Worth of Ore Taken Out.

The Excitement at Crede, Col., Is Becoming Intense—New Towns Springing Into Existence.

Denver, Col., Feb. 3.—The excitement at Creede, the new mining camp on the Rio Grande railway, is intense. People are flocking in from all parts of the country and a large city of rough board houses has sprung up in a short time.

David H. Moffatt yesterday was offered $1,000,000 by an English company to bond the Holy Moses mine at Creede, but he refused to do so.

Since the first prospect hole was started at Creede, nine months ago, there has been $5,000,000 worth of ore taken from the mines there although everything is new and undeveloped.

Yesterday L. Z. Dickson, Henry R. Wolcott and E. O. Wolcott, of Denver; a Mr. Ward, of New York, and Jake Saunders, of Leadville, purchased a two-thirds in the Last Chance mine, at Creede for $100,000. This mine is shipping 90 tons of ore a day, which averages $160 per ton.

THE MOLLIE GIBSON.

Another Remarkable Find of Rich Ore Reported.

Denver, Col., Feb. 3.—One of the most remarkable strikes of rich ore found has been made in the famous Mollie Gibson silver mine at Aspen.

A nine foot body of ore has just been discovered which is worth fully $10,000.

The drift run continued and penetrated a seven foot body of ore, averaging over 9,000 ounces to the ton. From the two foot body of 26,000 ounces of ore, huge pieces weighing 300 pounds were hoisted which were almost pure metal. Out of these big chunks have been sawed bricks which some of the principal stockholders will preserve as specimens.

The news of the wonderful strike has been kept from the public and is made known for the first time to-day.

A BROKEN SWITCH ROD

Causes a Train to Leave the Track.

Fortunately No Passengers Were Aboard.

Engineer and Fireman Crushed to Death Beneath the Engine, Which Was Reduced to a Scrap Heap.

Findlay, O., Feb. 3.—(Special)—A disastrous wreck occurred on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad a few rods west of North Baltimore depot at 2 o'clock this morning.

The limited express train of three cars, carrying no passengers, was ditched by a broken switch rod, while running at the rate of 55 miles an hour.

The locomotive and tender were crushed into scrap iron, the cars telescoped and valuable express matter was strewn promiscuously around.

The body of Engineer James Manuel, of Garrett, Ind., was jammed three feet into the earth beneath the fire-box, and was removed at 9 o'clock. His back was broken and neck nearly severed.

Fireman Hampton, of Garrett, was wedged in by the tender and was fatally scalded.

As the whole thing occurred in a second, neither could save himself by jumping.

Express Messengers W. D. Callahan and L. Gray, of Chicago, were in the forward car and miraculously escaped with a few bruises.

Conductor Lewis and a brakeman were the rest of the crew and were imprisoned in a car for a time, but were uninjured.

A part of the express matter included eight thousand dollars' worth of silver bullion consigned to the Philadelphia mint.

The dead and injured were taken to Garrett.

HAS CHANGED ITS NAME.

New Departure of the Libbey Glass Company.

TRIBUTE OF RESPECT

To Ex-President Boice, of the Merchants' National Bank.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Merchants' National bank to-day, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, Reed V. Boice, for many years president of this bank, has been compelled by advancing years and failing health to sever his connection with it and to put off the arduous duties he has so long and so successfully performed:

Resolved, That this board deeply regrets the severance of the many ties which have grown up with time; that it feels that in him this board parts with a valued friend and associate, and one wise in counsel; that in him this bank loses a tried and faithful servant of unblemished integrity, who long labored for its interests with untiring zeal and most unselfish devotion; that to his wise comprehension of proper banking methods and management is largely due the present flourishing condition of this bank;

Resolved, That it is our heartfelt hope that Mr. Boice enjoy during the evening of his life the rest and peace to which his long labors entitle him, and that, as an evidence of the respect and affection in which he is held by his associates on this board, these resolutions be entered upon the records of the bank and an engrossed copy thereof be sent him.

A NICE QUESTION

Raised in a Forgery Case Now On Trial.

In the Haskell case now on hearing before Judge Lemmon in common pleas court the defense raised a question that may be of some importance in the case.

Haskell is on trial charged with disposing of several checks in Toledo, purported to be signed by J. H. Lee, president of the J. H. Lee Shoe company, Boston, by whom Haskell claimed to be employed. Mr. Lee was on the stand this morning and, on examination by the state, testified that Haskell was never in his employ, and that he never signed the check. On cross-examination by the defense Mr. Lee stated that there is no such firm in Boston as the J. H. Lee Shoe company, and that he is not the president of any such company. He testified that there is such a firm as J. H. Lee & Co., manufacturers of boots and shoes, which is no corporation and has no officials, and that he is at the head of this company. The defense claimed the name signed to the check is a fictitious one and therefore not a forgery.

BOYCOTT ORDERED.

St. Louis Feb. 3.—At a meeting of the carpenters' council last night a boycott was ordered on the product of the Plant Milling company of this city. This action is taken because of the refusal of the company to employ union carpenters in the erection of the new building.

Must be avoided, or you buy at your own risk—anything purporting to be Doctor Pierce's medicines, sold by unauthorized dealers at less than the regular prices. You risk the getting of old bottles refilled, dilutions of the genuine medicines, imitations, and substitutes.

To prevent all this, and to protect the public from fraud and imposition, the genuine guaranteed medicines of Dr. R. V. Pierce are now sold only through druggists, regularly authorized as agents, and at the following long-established prices:

Golden Medical Discovery (for Liver, Blood and Lung Diseases), $1.00. Favorite Prescription (for woman's weaknesses and ailments), $1.00. Pleasant Pellets (for the liver), 25 cents. Comp. Ext. Smart-Weed, 50 cents. Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, 50 cents.

Dr. Pierce's remedies are the cheapest you can buy, for you pay only for the good you get. They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or you have your money back.

Y'S NATIONAL SUPERINTENDENT

Will Be in Toledo at the Close of the Month.

Mrs. Barnes, of New York, the national superintendent of the Ys, will arrive in Toledo on Wednesday, Feb. 24. She will go to Detroit Thursday morning, returning to Toledo on Saturday.

On Sunday evening, the 28th, she will address the Ys, including the honoraries, at the First Congregational church. Dr. Williams has kindly postponed the song service for that evening to allow the Ys to use the church.

Mrs. Barnes will be present at the parlor meeting to be held at Miss Kate Kenyon's, on Twelfth street, on Wednesday evening, Feb. 24.

Mrs. Leander Burdick will entertain Mrs. Barnes during her stay in Toledo.

TOLEDO BRIDGE COMPANY

Will Organize Next Week and Take Hold of Smith Bridge Plant.

The organization of the Toledo Bridge company was to have taken place to-day," said J. L. Hueston, to a Bee, "but owing to Mr. Tolerton's enforced absence on account of the sudden illness of his father, the matter will be postponed until the first of next week. We will take possession of the Smith Bridge plant the first of next month, although the minor details have not yet been completed."

IN TRADING CIRCLES

Both at Our Home and Abroad.

Wheat Quotations for the Day—Price Current for Produce and Other Articles.

London wheat market slow and six pence cheaper; corn dull and lower. Liverpool wheat dull; California 1-2 pence per 100 pounds lower; red winter unchanged; corn 1-2 pence lower.

The receipts of wheat at seven principal western points to-day are 423,522 bu., compared with 184,528 bu. on the same day last year.

Wheat in Kansas.

Secretary Mohler, of the Kansas state board of agriculture, said that he had made no statement concerning the wheat crop of 1892. "The only thing on which an estimate could be based at this time," he says, "is the wheat area. There is little difference between the wheat area this year and last. The conditions last fall were not favorable, but have been this winter and if they continue there will be another big yield of wheat. There is an increased acreage in the central and western directions and a decreased acreage in the eastern belt. The central belt is the great wheat growing section."

New York "Produce Exchange Weekly" says: The wheat on passage from India, January 12, estimated by Beerbohm at 3,216,000 bu, including 2,552,000 bu to the United Kingdom and 664,000 bu to the continent. One year ago the quantity afloat from India was 2,520,000 bu, comprising 1,624,000 bu for the United Kingdom and 896,000 bu for the continent.

Receipts of wheat continue to show very good aggregates for the time of year, and better than last week.

Seaboard receipts to-day are wheat 129,586 bu. Corn 522,252 bu. Oats 144,198 bu.

The exports clearances yesterday at four Atlantic ports are 248,464 bus. wheat, and flour to an aggregate of 400,000 bus. The exports of corn was 417,589 bu. and of oats 23,358 bu.

English markets as reported herein are dull and lower for late wheat and corn.

The Markets To-Day.

The Liverpool "Corn Trade News" of late date in January says: "Wheat is steadier in spite of the American relapse with a more general demand." That sentence covers the whole question, and yet we have American dealers who make it their business to plunge millions of wheat on a dull market and break down prices not only here, but everywhere as a logical consequence of the extract we have quoted.

Bradstreet's report of the visible supply makes wheat decreased 638,000 bu. this side the Rockies, and 398,000 bu. on the Pacific coast. Corn increased 58,000 bu. Oats increased 205,000 bu.

There is nothing new. There is not spirit enough left in the friends of wheat even to concoct misrepresentations—or lies—and send them over the wores. They are very tame. In the earlier part of the year they were making the money, but now, alas! the enemies are encamped on their deserted fortifications, and swelling with the pride and confidence that is born of success. There are no appearances in sight of an attempt to retake the fort. The effect is a daily weakness and decline. All this is against the "trade." Every dealer will admit he can make the most money on high rather than on low prices. Every miller will make the same statement. It makes but little difference to the consumer if his particular barrel of flour per annum costs 50c more. He can save it with a reduction of ten drinks, but the 10c per bu. to the farmers is a big thing for him and for all the dealers with him.

The course of the markets to-day presents no contrast to the days recently passed, so far as wheat is concerned. They are very weak, and have no soundness in them. It is a cold day when prices do not squat a cent per bu. It is as easy as to roll off a log. The price to-day has been 1c lower east and west, but recovered a portion of the loss.

Corn has been about steady with slight fluctuations in favor of sellers, closing about as yesterday.

Foreign markets are reported as closing weak and lower.

In New York February wheat closed 5-8 and May 7-8 lower. February corn 1-4 higher, and May 1-8 lower. February oats 1-8 decrease.

In Chicago February wheat closed 1-2 and May 3-4 lower. February and May corn unchanged.

In Toledo.—There has been quite an accession to the trading in wheat futures, compared with a few days past, but the business has been done on a declining market until the break on May wheat reached 1 1-4c, after which there was a gain of 3-8c and a loss of 1-8c, closing at a loss of 1c. On the call May wheat sold at 93 1-2@93 3-4c, and closed at 93 1-2c. After the call May commenced at 93 5-8c, sold down to 93c, and closed at 93 1-4c.

Cash wheat was less active than yesterday, and there were no transactions except in No. 2 soft, which sold early at 90 1-4c to 89 3-4c, and closed at 90 1-4c, a loss of 1-2c.

Corn—No. 2 at 39c; No. 3 at 38 1-4@38c; No. 3 yellow at 39c.

Rye—No. 2 at 82c.

Clover seed was much stronger; opened steady and advanced 10c at close. Prime for cash at $5 55@5 65; February at $5.55@5.70, closing $5.65; March, $5.65@5.70; nothing in No. 2.

Markets by Telegraph.

New York, Feb. 3.—Flour heavy; city mill extra, $4 90@5 00 for West Indies; Minnesota extra, $3 30@5 30; fine, $2 60@3 30; superfine, $2 90@3 50. Wheat opened weak and continued weak throughout the morning. At noon prices had declined 1-2c; No. 2 red winter, cash, $1 01 3-4; February, $1 00; March, $1 00 7-8; April, $1 01; May, 99 3-4c. Corn opened steady and unchanged, but advanced 3-8c by noon; No. 2 mixed cash, 50 3-4c; February, 49 3-4c; March, 49 5-8c; May, 49c. Oats steady; No. 2 mixed cash, 35c; February, 35 1-4c; May, 36 1-4c. Rye dull with prices nominal; 93c. Barley, two-rowed state quoted 63@65c; No. 2 Milwaukee, 69@70. Molasses dull; New Orleans new crop, 30@37c. Sugar, refined, quiet but steady; cutloaf and crushed, 5 1-8c; granulated, 4 1-4c. Coffee quiet; fair rio cargoes, 16 1-4c. Rice nominal. Pork dull; new mess, $9 75@10 50. Lard quiet; February, $6 70; March, $6 75. Butter steady and without radical change; western extra, 31 1-2@32c. Cheese in fair demand; state factory fancy, 12c. Eggs firm and moderately active; state fresh, 20@26 1-2c; western do, 26c. Turpentine quiet at 35@35 1-2c. Rosin dull but steady; strained to good, $1 35@1 40. Tallow quiet; prime city, 4 3-4. Petroleum nominal. Freights quiet; grain to London, steam, 3 1-2d.

New York, Feb. 3.—Money easy at 1 1-3@2 per cent. Exchange quiet; posted rates, 486 1-2@487 1-2; actual rates, 484 1-4@484 1-2 for 60 days, and 486 1-2@486 3-4 for demand.

Governments steady; currency, 6s, 109 bid; 4s, coup., 116 1-2 bid; extended 2s, registered, 100 bid.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—Opening—Wheat—May, 88 3-4. Corn—February, 40 3-8; March, 41; May, 41 1-8. Oats—May, 30 5-8. Pork—May, $11 95. Lard—May, $6 65. Ribs—May, $6 02 1-2.

London, Feb. 3.—1 p. m.—Wheat cargoes off coast at opening slow; maize nothing offering. Wheat cargoes on passage and for shipment, weak; maize cheaper.

Mark Lane.—Wheat at opening very quiet; maize easier. Red winter wheat for prompt shipment, 480 lbs, American terms, 37s 3d. Red winter wheat for present and following month, 480 lbs, American terms, 37s 6d. No 1 California wheat just shipped or promptly to be shipped, 500 lbs, California terms, 39s. No. 1 California wheat nearly due, 500 lbs, California terms, 39s. French country markets quiet.

Liverpool, Feb. 3.—1:00 p. m.—Wheat market dull, demand poor, holders offer omderately. American mixed corn steady, demand fair, 4s 3 1-4d. No. 2 spring wheat (U. S. seaboard inspection) 7s 8 1-2d@7s 9d. No. 2 red winter wheat (New York standard) 7s 7d@7s 7 1-2d. No. 1 Cala. wheat 7s 10d@7s 11d. Wheat and corn off coast demand poor.

MR. M'CONICA INQUIRES

Where the Gas and Oil Money Has Gone.

A Resolution of Investigation Presented.

Both Branches of the Legislature Doing Much Business—General News From the State Capital.

Columbus, Feb. 3.—(Special)—Senator McConica this afternoon offered for adoption the following resolution:

"Whereas, The canal commission and board of public works of the State of Ohio have leased state lands for gas purposes under an act passed three years ago; and,

"Whereas, It is reported and generally known that lands leased by said board and commission for gas purposes have been and are producing large quantities of oil, and that the same is being disposed of by the lessees; and,

Whereas, it is believed that the oil so taken from the state lands and disposed of without authority of law has amounted to many thousands of dollars, and that the state has received no compensation therefor. Therefore be it

Resolved, by the general assembly of the state of Ohio, that the president of the senate and the speaker of the house appoint a committee of three on the part of the senate and five on the part of the house, to investigate and report to the senate and house the number of leases made by the aforesaid board and commission for gas purposes to date; the number of such leases on which gas is produced; the number of such leases on which oil is produced; the amount of oil that has been produced on such leases, and the disposition of same; and what if any compensation the state has received for oil which has been produced and disposed of by the leases.

Resolved further, that the board of public works and canal commission be called on to furnish the committee all the information they have at their command bearing upon the work of the committee and the facts sought to be ascertained by this investigation."

For Sanitary Effect.

Speaker Laylin has appointed Messrs. Griffin, Doty, Workman, Harshbarger and Boesel as members of a committee to provide better heating and ventilating of the state house.

Bills Passed in the House.

The following bills passed the house to-day:

Mr. Taylor, Champaign—Appropriating money raised under the Hysell law to the State university.

Mr. Gilliland—Giving county agricultural societies power to condemn lands for fair grounds.

Mr. Gilliland—Authorizing trustees of Ridge township, Van Wert county, to submit proposition to the electors the question of issuing $100,000 in bonds for grading and improving highways.

Mr. Flummerfelt—Preventing supervisors from digging ditch or making an excavation in front of private property without providing temporary drains.

Bills Introduced in the Senate.

Mr. Marshall—Providing that boards of trustees of county children homes shall consist of four members and be non-partisan.

Mr. Carpenter, of Fayette—To give probate courts jurisdiction in misdemeanors, so as to assist common pleas courts in disposing of business.

Protecting the Laborer.

The senate passed the Van Seggern bill providing that every laborer who sues to recover wages, after demanding same in writing, and recovers in justice court, shall be allowed $5 for attorney fees, and in case the suit is appealed and judgment is affirmed, he shall be allowed for attorney fees, $15.

Also Mr. Marshall's bill—Providing that corporations charted prior to the adoption of the present constitution, may comply with all the laws now in force without forfeiting their original charter rights.

Mr. Nichol's bill providing for the election of assessors in precincts composed of territory situated in more than one township was passed as were Mr. Gilliland's bill authorizing the commissioners of Van Wert county to transfer $20,000 from the inquisitors fund to the building fund.

Sutphen-Snook Judicial Contest.

The consideration of the Snook-Sutphen judicial contest was taken up yesterday afternoon in the senate at 3 o'clock. The contestor produced all his evidence for Paulding county in which he showed to the senate that in Caryall township, where the judges had counted all tickets marked only for governor, that there were eight more marked for McKinley than for Campbell and that Snook therefore received eight more votes than he was entitled to. Judge Sutphen, by unimpeachable testimony, also showed where Snook had received five illegal votes from non-residents.

In another affidavit read he made a gain of two votes in Blue creek township and he also by overwhelming evidence showed the fact that the contestor had counted two votes to which he was not entitled.

Collateral Inheritance Bill.

Mr. Holcomb introduced a bill yesterday afternoon imposing a collateral inheritance tax on all property within the jurisdiction of this state, and any interest therein, whether belonging to inhabitants of this state or not, and whether tangible or intangible, which shall pass by will or by the intestate laws of this state, or by deed, grant, sale, or gift made or intended to take effect in provision or enjoyment after the death of the grantor, to any person in trust or otherwise, other than to or for the use of the father, mother, husband, wife, lineal descendant, adopted child, the lineal descendant of any aopted child, the wife or widow of a son, the husband of the daughter of a descendant, shall be liable to a tax of 3 1-2 per centum of its value, above the sum of $1,000 for the use of the state, and all administrators, executors and trustees shall be liable for all such taxes and shall be collected the same as all other taxes, and if not paid will have to pay 6 per cent. interest.

Railroad Bill.

Representative Griffin introduced a bill yesterday afternoon amending section 3340 and 3341 of the revised statutes so that where a railroad company shall demand or receive a greater sum of money for the transportation of passengers or property than the sum allowed by law, shall pay to the party aggrieved for every such overcharge; and any officer, employe or agent of any such company, who violates or permits to be violated any of the provisions of this law, or demands or receives such sum of money, shall be subject to the like penalty to the party aggrieved; but in no case shall the amount to be paid be less than $150 to any bona fide claimant using the road of such company, or demanding or receiving any of the service provided for in two former sections in the course of business, and also such exemplary damage as a jury may award, not in any one case in excess of $2,000.

Clapp's Road Supervisor Bill.

Speaker pro tem. Clapp, of Geauga, introduced a bill yesterday afternoon creating township supervisors for the purpose of letting contracts. If the owner or owners of land along side of public highways do not cut down and destroy all weeds, brushes, etc., growing along said highway before the 15th of August of each year, the supervisor shall do so, and the township trustees shall furnish statement of the cost of such work to the county auditor, who is directed to place the same on the tax duplicate against the owners of said land, and he shall collect it the same as taxes are collected.

Notes.

The democrats held a caucus last night, but transacted no business.

The senate yesterday passed the bill to lease state lands to oil companies.

The people of Nevada, Wyandot county, can now witness the transfer of funds, as Smith's bill has passed the senate authorizing that village to perform that duty.

Senator Nichols yesterday afternoon introduced a bill, by request, providing that where an assignee, trustee and debtor have all died, the court shall transfer title of the debtor in hands of assignee or trustee.

The senate yesterday afternoon adopted Paxton's house resolution providing that our senators and representatives in congress be requested to vote for an amendment to the constitution so that United States senators may be elected by the direct vote of the people.

ANOTHER GOLD STRIKE.

Denver, Col., Feb. 3.—Reports reached here from Boulder, Col., yesterday that two miners have made the biggest strike of recent years in the Orphan mine, at Copper Rock, on the ridge between Bald mountain and Sugar Loaf. The quartz is reported full of free gold. The miners and prospectors are wild over the strike, and many left yesterday for the scene.

WENT ASHORE.

London, Feb. 3.—An American bark has gone ashore at Broad Haven bay on the west coast of Ireland. Her name is not known. She is supposed to be bound for Sligo.

AMONG THE PEOPLE.

Jottings of Personal Mention About the City.

Gleaned by Members of the Bee Staff—Social and Small Parties at Different Homes.

Miss Gertrude Smith entertained about 30 friends last evening with progressive euchre. The gentleman's first prize was won by Mr. Kent; booby, Mr. Parker; ladies' first prize, Mrs. Blackmore; booby, Mrs. Frank Williams. Refreshments were served during the evening, and the house was prettily decorated for the pleasant occasion.

A pleasant and thorough surprise party was given last evening for Miss Genevieve Phelps, of Huron street, prior to her departure for New York. Music, dancing and card playing made the evening a happy one. About 12 o'clock an elegant supper was served, at which time Miss Phelps was presented with a beautiful floral offering from the Misses Clara Davy and Ocena Billinghurst. There were present about 35 couples, among whom were the Misses Clara Davy, Ocena Billinghurst, Delia Quinn, Minnie Oberdier, Lu Ilett, May Le Hue, Sad McCann, Bessy Genshechler, Julia Jacobs, Barbara Billinghurst, Liz Salm, Miss Daly, Miss Sad Thompson, Miss Kronkie, and Messrs. Main, Todd, H. J. Ilett, Charlie Armstrong, Peter Steel, Fred Mary, Bob Ilett, Frank Thomas, Gute, Reese, Rodgers, Tucker, Whalen, Gun, Russell, Ayers, Harsh, Kirklin, Harpin and Chesebrow.

One of the most enjoyable dancing parties of the season was given by Miss Maud Lovett in honor of her friend, Tutor Drake, of New York. Clide Beckwith, Frank Potter, Harry Goodman, George Taylor, Alf Darwin, Earl Ramond, Walter Peren, Walter Howell, Burt Evans, Will Emerson, Joseph Stern, Oliver Mitchell, Rob Bash, Frank Zahm, Will Melvin, Russel Viburg, Bud Carson, Harry Cannbee, Jesse Colburn, Arthur Stein, Bert Holton, Carl Mervel, Evert Harding, Charley Bodette, Paul Lough, Harry Parker.

The pretty home of Capt. and Mrs. Rooney was made lively last night by 213 guests, invited by Mr. Tom Rooney to surprise his brother, Mr. John Rooney, which they did most effectually. Dancing was indulged in at the house corner of Wisconsin street and Collingwood avenue, and cards, music, etc., at the residence on Missouri street. Here an elaborate supper was served from 11 to 3 o'clock. Capt. and Mrs. Rooney did all in their power to aid the young people in having a jolly time, and spared no expense in having everything of the best, which was appreciated by the entire company. It was early this morning before the merry party sought their homes. Thanks are extended to Chief O'Dwyer for kindness shown. Among the guests were the Misses Hoag, of Detroit; Sarah Chandler, Anna Heinl, Fannie Dyer, Lizzie Rodenhiser, Jennie Kellie, Kittie and Lizzie Murphy, Allie Reeves, Sophia Lovett, Cronan, Maggie and Mamie Conors, Jennie Conors, Mayme Clansly, Maggie Horan, Julia and Kittie Wernert, Anna Keenan, Mary Larrey, Celia Keller, Lizzie DeLaney, Rose Foley, Myrtle and Lizzie Doran, Anna Court, Anna and Bee Picket, Maggie Jones, Emma Lateste, Lucy Adams, Ella and Anna Harmon, Lizzie Cotter, Fitzgerald, Anna Murphy, Mary Judge, Clara Harbester, Lena Cohart, and Messrs. Dan Cotter, Joe Wernert, J. Rodenhiser, Richard Nesbit, Joe and Will DeLanty, John and Tim Holland, John Thayer, John Moran, Guy Christy, Will Wernert, John Riley, Tom Boyd, L. H. and Harry Colburn, Joe Galloway, John Sullivan, Tom Eagle, John Maher, Elmer Holtz, Jim Elward, Webb, and Mr. and Mrs. Biemeister, Mr. and Mrs. Kreuger, Mr. and Mrs. Foy, Mr. and Mrs. Parsons, Mrs. Kessler, of Cleveland, and Mr. Fred Rooney, of Detroit.

A ROYAL PECULATOR

The Grand Duke Nicholaevitch Constantine of Russia, uncle of the czar and father of the queen of Greece, who died last week, was a corruptionist of the fine old-crusted Russian order. He considered everything fish that came to his net and stole the public funds with magnificently wholesale comprehensiveness. One of his imperial nephews began teasing him to be shown one of the new ships for the navy. Constantine promised that he would take him to the dockyard at Constadt the next day. "But I want to see those you've got with you," protested the prince. "Mamma says you put the last two new ships in your pocket." The court gossip of the time says that Constantine felt rather complimented than otherwise at the imputation that he had stolen the money set apart for the new war vessels.

A ROYAL ROMANCE.

The late Dowager Duchess Louisa of Bavaria, widow of the Duke Maximilian, was renowned as the mother of five daughters, all famous for their beauty and accomplishments. The Cinderella of the family was the Duchess Elizabeth, now empress of Austria. She was a madcap maiden, not to say a tomboy, and the emperor saw her for the first time when he came to betroth himself to an elder sister, the beautiful Duchess Helen, who at her death a few years ago was accounted the handsomest and most intellectual woman in Europe. But the emperor fell in love with Elizabeth at sight, and a few months later she entered Vienna in state as Empress of Austria and queen of Hungary.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces unsightly lumps or swellings in the neck; which causes running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. It is the most ancient of all diseases, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"Every spring my wife and children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy, three years old, being a terrible sufferer. Last spring he was one mass of sores from head to feet. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is entirely free from sores, and all four of my children look bright and healthy." W. B. LOCAL HAPPENINGS.

Allen and Parkhurst, are redecorating the interior of their store, which will be quite elobrate when finished.

The friends of Mr. Chas. Hipp, of Romeis & Hipp, will regret to hear of the death of his wife, nee Miss Gertrude Blanche Jenny, which sad event took place last evening at 9 o'clock, after a brief illness. Mrs. Hipp leaves three small children, the youngest but three weeks old, which circumstance makes the bereavement of her husband all the more painful.

THE K. OF L. COMMENDED.

The Knights of Labor, prompted by General Master Workman T. V. Powderly, are about to petition congress to do three things, viz.: Re-enact the Chinese exclusion law, which expires on May 6 next; pass Senator Chandler's bill to enlarge the accommodations of steerage passengers on ocean steamers; and enact Senator Turpie's joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution providing for the election of United States senators by a direct vote.

The moral and religious community would favor these changes and co-operate with organized labor in effecting them. For the first object seeks to limit immigration, now too indiscriminate. The second is plainly in the interest of decency and morality. While the third is an extension of the essential American idea of popular sovereignty, and would tend to turn the national senate from a club of rich men back again into a representative body en rapport with the people.

Go ahead, friend Powderly.—St. Louis Republic

Bergen's Asthma Cure Did It.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 20, 1889.

Dr. J. W. Bergen, Petersburg, Ind.:

Dear Sir—It is with pleasure that I testify to the virtue of your Asthma Cure. I had been a sufferer for years, and had almost come to the conclusion that there was no cure for asthma; but your remedy was recommended and I commenced taking it last June, and have not had an attack since, and I feel that the cure is permanent and complete. I hope that all asthmatics will give it a trial, as I firmly believe it is a specific. Truly yours,

CURRENT TOPICS.

When asked the other day if he thought the influence of naturalism had tended to brutalize public taste, M. Zola replied with vivacity: "Is demoralization a thing of yesterday? Was the Eighteenth century any better than ours? We are called corrupt, whereas we are little saints in comparison with our predecessors. Read Saint Simon and the scandalous chronicles of his time, and tell me if the suppers of the regency have left us anything to invent. Our virtuous neighbors (the English) would have it that depravity originated in this country and in our own time, whereas it is as old as the world." Although M. Zola sees no objection to the prosecution of M. de Chirac, he has never disguised his contempt for all official efforts to purify society. He has no faith in obligatory morality, and naturally feels profound contempt for the action of those governments which have placed his books under an interdict.

In the February Century the following description is given of the Jewish process for killing cattle: One of the largest abattoirs in the city, covering an ample block, owned and operated by men of Jewish race and faith, is remarkable for its smoothand effective working and admirable distribution of parts. An average of 800 cattle, between 3 and 5 years old, pass through it in each of the business days of the year. Arriving from the west at the river front, they ascend one by one to the fateful inclosure, where an adept employe fastens a chain around the hind leg of each. Hoisted by machinery, the bovine falls gently upon one shoulder, and in most instances without a cry. Occasionally, however, a brute, maddened by sight and smell of blood, breaks out into the slaughter house and creates disturbance that is speedily quelled by its own dispatch. Submissive companions with neck twisted to expose the throat, quickly feel the shochet's long and shining knife. The schochet himself is a stalwart fellow, cool and wary withal, who rarely makes a useless motion. He is a religious man, and of good moral character, as his license from Rabbi Jacob Joseph, chief of certain orthodox congregations in the metropolis, avouches. The life-stream in torrents follows the movement of his blade. This is "schechita," the killing. It ensures complete effusion of blood, in which may be germs of disease that otherwise might find entrance into human bodies. Next follows "bedikah," the examination of instrument and victim. If a nick appear on the keen edge of the knife, that by extremists is held to imply unnecessary suffering, injurious chemical change, and consequent unfitness of the carcass for market. If there be none, lungs, liver and heart, the entire body indeed, are minutely inspected.

"Our literary society and literary men suffer from the lack of motive and such commanding, common cause as animated Emerson and the literary brotherhood of the last generation," says Edwin D. Mead in the New England Magazine for February. "Our literary life is trivial for the most part, and our art life only just now begins to feel great impulses after a trivial and poor period. There is no solidarity in our American literary society, there is little that can be called serious literary society at all. Is it not true that the earnest individual literary workers among us, in whatever realms, find their most nourishing and respected companionship in the merchant and the shoemaker and the printer, oftener than in their own guild—that they find those 'nearer the deep bases of our lives' than these? Aspiration, faithfulness, pure vision of beauty, strenuous and fine purpose, and love are surely not lacking in American literary life; but with them are much fragmentariness, vain cackle and hysteric haste, much unwillingness to grow in quiet, much willingness to receive and to seek large notice for little achievements, a pitiful lack of the repose and steadiness and faith which are the pledges of those great works which only a lifetime perfects, and only here and there that vision of noble and commanding causes and that surrender of self in glad abandon, which sanctifies and fertilizes genius, and makes the life sublime."

Theosophists, spiritualists, and other followers of mysterious beliefs are interested in the psychic congress which has been authorized as a feature of the world's fair. It will be under the direction of Col. John C. Bundy, of Chicago, and Dr. Elliot Coues, of Washington, and other noted disciples of occult beliefs. The congress will be attended by such scientists as Prof. Albert Russell Wallace and Prof. Crookes, of the Royal Geographical society, of London; Flammarion, the great French astronomer; Charcot, the most wonderful hypnotist living, and a member of the Paris Academy of Sciences; Annie Besant, the Countess Caithness, noted German savants, and delegates from societies for psychical research throughout the world. The most marvelous accomplishments in hypnotism, telepathy, mind-reading and clairvoyance will be given in public, and all possible information and explanation offered for the benefit of spectators.

Chicago has become the third manufacturing city in the union, and she is drawing manufactures away from the east faster than most persons in the east imagine, writes Julian Ralph in Harper's for February. To-day it is a great Troy stove-making establishment that has moved to Chicago; the week before it was a Massachusetts shoe factory that went there, but more must follow, because Chicago is not only the centre of the midland region in respect of the distribution of made-up wares, but also for the concentration of raw materials. Chicago must lead in the manufacture of all goods of which wood, leather and iron are the bases. The revolution that took place in the meat trade when Chicago took the lead in that industry affected the whole leather and hide industry. Cattle are dropping 90,000 skins a week in Chicago, and the trade is confined to Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha and St. Paul. It is idle to suppose that those skins will be sent across the Alleghenies to be turned into goods and sent back again. Wisconsin has become the great tanning state, and all over the district close around Chicago are factories and factory towns where hides are turned into leather goods. The west still gets its finer goods in the east, but it is making the coarser grades, and to such an extent as to give a touch of New England color to the towns and villages around Chicago.

Under the direction of the Legislature of Ohio, the State Food and Dairy Commissioner Gen. S. H. HURST, examined the leading brands of baking powder (30 in all) and the following is Gen. HURST'S verdict:

"Cleveland's Superior is absolutely the best baking powder manufactured."

M. D. WOODFORD

Retires From the W. & L. E. Presidency.

Annual Meeting of the Company Held Here—The C., H. V. & T. Annual—Other Railroad News.

Yesterday afternoon the annual meeting of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad was held in this city at the Boody house. It resulted in the retirement of M. D. Woodford from the presidency of the road and election of Frank R. Lawrence, of New York, to succeed him. This was something of a surprise in railroad circles. While Mr. Woodford was an able, hard-working official Mr. Lawrence will prove no less so. He is a shrewd lawyer, one of the best known men in New York and is by the way the president of the famous Lotus club of that city. Mr. Woodford remains on the directory, however, and the other members are as follows: George W. Davis, S. C. Reynolds and George E. Pomeroy, of Toledo; John G. Warwick, of Massillon; and Sidney Dillon, John Greenough, Frank R. Lawrence and E. K. Sibley, of New York.

The directors in addition to making Mr. Lawrence president elected as vice president, John Greenough, and James M. Ham, secretary and treasurer. The executive committee will consist of Messrs. Woodford, Dillon, Greenough, Lawrence and Sibley.

Mr. Woodford's retirement was brought about in a measure in consequence of his rapidly increasing duties as president of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railroad. During his long connection with the W. & L. E. he has done much for the betterment of the road, and has brought it to its present state of prosperity and perfection.

The road now has an entrance into Wheeling, and the present year it is expected will be the banner one of its existence.

On the Toledo Belt.

The large number of new industries on the Toledo Belt railway have greatly increased the business of the road. During the month of December 12,800 cars were handled on the Belt, 2,000 more than during any previous month. It is thought that the records of last month show an equal amount of business.

The C., H. V. & T. Annual.

The annual meeting of the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo railroad was held yesterday. The following directors were re-elected: C. C. Waite, Columbus; Charles B. Alexander, New York; George W. McCook, Steubenville; Samuel D. Davis, New York; Thomas F. Ryan, New York; Charles B. Van Nostrand, New York; Charles Foster, Fostoria; P. W. Huntington, Columbus; James Kilbourne, Columbus.

Officers were elected as follows: President, C. C. Waite; first vice-president, Samuel D. Davis; second vice-president, C. B. Alexander; secretary-treasurer, W. N. Colt, Columbus; assistant secretary, J. T. Boathroyd, New York; general counsel, J. J. McCook, New York; general solicitor, C. O. Hunter, Columbus.

President Waite's report showed the gross earnings to have been $3,286,826; operating expenses, $1,765,250; net earnings from operation, $1,521,567; ratio of expenses to earnings, 53.70 per cent.; surplus over expenses, etc., $386,033; balance of surplus, $96,476.

As compared with 1890 there was an increase of $207,927 in the gross earnings, of $88,027 in expenses, and of $119,899 in net earnings, the percentage of increased freight and passenger earnings being about equal. The increase in tonnage is proportionate to the increase in freight revenue, evincing that the rates of the previous year have generally prevailed.

A great many improvements will be made during the present year.

Cinders Here and There.

John Bastable, of the Queen & Crescent, is in town to-day.

General Passenger Agent J. M. Hall, of the W. & L. E., is in Wheeling, W. Va., to-day.

John T. Morgan, representing the Anchor line of transatlantic steamers, is in the city.

W. S. Brown, traveling passenger agent of the Lake Shore, was in the city this morning.

President C. C. Waite, of the Columbus, Hocking Valley & Toledo railroad, arrived in the city this afternoon.

F. M. Bushong, traveling passenger agent of the Pennsylvania, run down from Detroit this morning.

The earnings of the T., A. A. & N. M. January were $56,125, an increase of $19,037 over January, 1891.

The earnings o fthe T., A. A. & N. M. for January show an increase of $2,064 over the same month of last year.

Paul Rainor, of Chicago, chief inspector of the Central Traffic association, was in Toledo yesterday looking up various matters.

Byron Hite, now employed as conductor on the Chicago & Eastern Illinois road, has sued the T. & O. C. for pay for overtime alleged to be due him.

Traffic Manager A. G. Blair of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, has removed from his old quarters in the Produce exchange to the adjoining office.

Superintendent W. R. Woodford and the directors of the Wheeling & Lake Erie are taking a trip over the Belt this afternoon, and visiting the company's new shops at Ironville.

It is given on good authority that the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad has about secured control of the Detroit, Lansing & Northern and the Chicago & West Michigan roads, both of which are valuable connections of the Lake Shore and Grand Trunk roads.

GAS PLANT CLOSED DOWN.

Trouble in Springfield Over Prices—Interesting Interview.

Chas. Hudson, auditor of the Springfield, O., Natural Gas company, has returned to his home in Toledo, and to a Bee he gives an instructive and interesting interview on the deplorable condition of gas affairs in that city.

"The gas company has let all its help go," he said, "and practically closed down. There is a great falling off in both the pressure and volume and consumers were continually complaining of shortages."

"Was that the reason for closing down?"

"Not altogether. The company is awaiting a readjustment of rates. The consumers are now paying 12 cents, but 20 cents is asked. Consumers are willing to pay 20 cents, but the council sticks by the rates previously fixed."

"How far is the gas fetched?"

"The Springfield company gets its gas from the Dayton company, which secures its supply in the Mercer county field, 65 miles from Springfield. The rock pressure at one time was 350 pounds, but it has fallen off to 75."

"Can the company give a supply at 20 cents?"

"With the use of pumps and sinking more wells, I presume it can."

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES.

A Delightful Meeting of the New Century Club.

The Home Aid Association Will Entertain—Other Society Meetings of the Week—Notes and Announcements.

Dr. and Mrs. Cravens entertained the New Century club last evening at their pleasant home on Franklin avenue. The attendance was large and the club enters upon another year under most happy auspices. Many of its members have been associated with its history from its inception, and their warm interest will always prevent the falling off of the club from its high standard of literary excellence, while its social features commend it to all members.

In the absence of the new president, Mrs. Francis D. Jermain, the vice president, J. B. Batelle, called the meeting to order. The secretary of last year, J. E. Bennett, read the minutes of the previous meeting, after which the new secretary, Miss Mary Law, assumed the duties of the office.

The executive committee, Mrs. Rosa L. Segur, chairman; Mrs. M. M. Cronise and H. B. Tillinghast, have prepared a splendid program for the next few months which was announced by the chairman, and which includes papers by Frank J. Scott, Mrs. Mary J. Cravens, J. B. Batelle, to be given in the order named.

The little mystery as to who was to give last evening's paper was then solved, the president calling upon Miss Anna C. Mott. For more than an hour Miss Mott entertained and delighted the members and guests of the club with an informal talk upon her late journey through Egypt and India. Several volumes of mounted photographs, obtained by Miss Mott at the places illustrated were passed around and looked over, and the amount of valuable information the listeners received was not lessened by these object lessons. It is hoped Miss Mott will be induced at an early date to give the club another talk upon her journey in Japan and China, for which there was not time last evening. The next meeting of the club, Tuesday evening, February 16, will be with Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Scott, at Hotel Madison. Mr. Scott will read the paper. Subject: "Paris and Other Cities."

To-morrow afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock, there will be a meeting of the Union of Unions, in the Third Presbyterian church. A feature of special interest will be the talk by Miss Cora B. Taylor, state superintendent of juvenile temperance work for the I. O. G. T. of Ohio.

There was a large attendance of the members of the Home Aid association at their regular meeting at Odd Fellows' Temple last night. Arrangements were perfected for the dance to be given on March 1. No trouble will be spared to make this party enjoyable and select. On the tickets are two lines which read, Sold to—— by——. These blanks must be filled out, thus holding the seller of the ticket responsible for the party to whom it is sold. Four applications for membership were received and committees appointed to investigate and report at the next meeting. It was decided to pay the organist for her services, which are very valuable to the order. After considerable routine business the association adjourned to meet Tuesday evening, March 16.

The mothers' meeting of the Non-Partisan W. C. T. U. was well attended at the Helping Hand mission yesterday afternoon. The time was profitably spent by those present, and a dainty lunch was served during the afternoon.

Notes.

Monthly meeting of the Ys on Friday afternoon at the First Congregational church.

The Toledo Suffrage association is in session this afternoon at their room in Fort Industry block.

The finance committee of the Day Nursery circle held a business meeting at the nursery this morning.

The Political Equality club meets with Mesdames Quigley and Murphy, Tenth street, Saturday afternoon. There is an interesting program, and all women are welcomed to these meetings.

At the Friday afternoon talk to mothers and teachers, which Miss Mary Law will give this week at the Law Kindergarten room, the subject is "Discipline of the Will." Mothers and teachers, as well as others interested, invited to attend.

The young people of the Third Congregational church have prepared an excellent program for their entertainment next Tuesday evening. The program includes musical and literary numbers, and a spelling contest, Rev. J. A. P. McGaw moderator.

TO THE CITIZENS OF TOLEDO.

Regarding the recent bakers' strike, we deem it our duty to give the public our explanation in regard to the matter. The question in this strike was not a question of wages or of working hours. As far as these are concerned we have always treated our hands most kindly and liberally, and nobody has a better opportunity of knowing this to be a fact than our workmen themselves. We have always and under all circumstances complied with their wishes as far as wages or working hours are concerned.

The question in this strike was, whether we, as proprietors, should allow ourselves to be dictated to by our hands as to what material we should use in the manufacture of our goods, or not. We concluded not to do it, as, in our opinion, we should enjoy that much liberty in our business, to select our material.

We kindly ask an intelligent public to form its own opinion in the matter.

Thanking the citizens of Toledo for former favors, we hope that the business relations between our customers and ourselves may be and remain as pleasant as ever. In the meantime, we shall be at our old stand, on Market Place, where we will furnish the best of breads, crackers and cakes. Respectfully,

M. SEYFANG & CO.,
17-19 Superior street.

LIVELY TIMES

On Canton Avenue Last Night—A Busy Policeman.

There were lively times along Canton avenue last night and Patrolman Heinig, who was on that beat, had his hands full most of the night. He arrested a drunken colored man named Gus Perman and had a fight before getting him into custody. He took in old Peter McGlynn, who had on a load of liquor several sizes to large for him; then he arrested John Mahoney and Grace Glenwood, a disreputable pair, who were enjoying a drunken tete-a-tete in Schwab's saloon, and he was also obliged to drive a disorderly crowd out of the same joint. All the persons arrested were fined in police court this morning.

Of Local and Neighborhood Interest.

Notes and Comments on Incidents Occurring Daily—Prepared for Readers Who are Hustled for Time.

DEPUTY COLLECTOR APPOINTED.

Revenue Collector Waldorf to-day appointed William R. Park, of Ada, as deputy revenue collector for the fourth district in place of James B. McConnell, of Kenton, resigned.

WILL ACCEPT THE INVITATION.

Postmaster Brown has received an invitation from General Postmaster Wanamaker to meet the prominent postmasters of the country at Washington March 9. Mr. Brown will accept the bid.

BEFORE A REFEREE.

To-day before Referee Harry King, the case of O. T. Scott v M. I. Wilcox came up for hearing. It is a case arising out of an old partnership between complainant and defendant. There is a great array of legal talent on both sides.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING.

This evening an important business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held. S. A. Taggart, of the international committee, will be present and will make remarks. The matter of the new building will come up. After the meeting there will be music by the Fachutar Bros. and others.

A MISSING MAN.

Warren Smith, a well-to-do citizen of Delta, is mysteriously missing, and when last seen he was in Toledo. A deputy sheriff from Fulton county was in the city yesterday looking after Mr. Smith, but his search was fruitless.

DWELLING BURNED.

A two-story frame dwelling on Dorr street near the M. C. crossing, occupied and owned by Fred Warn, was totally destroyed by fire about 2:30 this morning and all the household effects were lost. The loss will be about $2,500, about half insured.

NEW SOCIETY.

A Young People's society has recently been organized at St. Mark's Episcopal church on Collingwood avenue with 25 members. The officers are: President, Rev. E. R. Watt; secretary, Ed Guitteau; treasurer, Miss Alice Guitteau. The society will give a New England supper at the church next Friday evening, February 5.

SPARRING EXHIBITION.

The athlete and sparring exhibition at Jack Kerwin's rooms, foot of Adams street, was well attended last evening and there was some good sport. The different bouts were all between local pugs, but some lively boxing was indulged in and twice Kerwin was obliged to interfere in order to prevent serious damage.

AGAINST THE MAYOR.

The protests made by the German citizens against the appointment of Mayor Emmick as state oil inspector were sent to Governor McKinley at Columbus yesterday. The papers contained about 1,400 signatures, and the mayor's opponents are confident that this will have considerable weight with the governor.

CAUGHT AT LIMA.

A man named Kent, wanted in Toledo for obtaining money under false pretenses, was arrested in Lima and Detective Spore went after him last night.

Several weeks ago Kent went to Mr. Samuel Clark, the sidewalk contractor, and by various pretenses obtained $25, and a few days afterward he obtained $10 additional and left the city.

THE LIQUOR TAX.

Auditor Jones has just completed a statement of the liquor traffic tax collection. The total amount collected was $75,539.69. Of this $15,106.54 will be paid to the state general revenue fund, $20,930.60 to the municipal police fund, $17,119.23 to the county poor fund, and $22,376.33 to the municipal general revenue fund.

VOLUNTEER POST.

Regular meeting of Volunteer post to-night. Comrade A. R. Seagrave will read a paper on "Life of a Blockader," which promises to be very interesting. The trip of the post to Washington next summer will be discussed and the proper committees appointed. The commander desires every member of the post be present and take part in making the arrangements. Other matters of importance will come up for action.

THE POLISH FAIR A SUCCESS.

The fair at the new St. Hedwig's Polish church, at the corner of Lagrange and Dexter streets, was pronounced a success for the past two days. Over one thousand Poles visited the fair and the crowd increases every evening. Many valuable articles were distributed, and it is estimated that over $500 were taken in on Monday and last night. The sewing machine, lounge, and other costly articles will be distributed on Friday and Saturday.

SUIT AGAINST THE ROBISONS.

Mary Becker sued the Toledo Electric Street Railway company in common pleas court to-day to recover $25,000 damages for personal injuries. The plaintiff alleges that on December 10, 1891, she alighted from a Huron street car at the transfer station on Summit street, and the conductor started the car before she was clear off the platform. Her dress caught on the step and she was dragged along the street, sustaining severe and lasting injuries.

WANTS THE CHILD BACK.

In common pleas court to-day Noah Leroux began action against Kate Leroux to gain the custody of a child. The defendant not long ago obtained a divorce from the plaintiff, and was granted the custody of their only child. Noah Leroux complains that at the time the case was filed and decree entered he was at work in Mississippi, and that Kate Leroux knew of his whereabouts and postoffice address, notwithstanding her affidavit to the contrary. He further alleges that Kate Leroux is no fit person to rear a child and that he is willing and able to raise and educate the child.

MRS. CARTER AND DAUGHTER.

Mrs. Jennie Carter, the colored woman, whose daughter has been giving the authorities so much trouble for several days, spent last night at the station, and to-day mother and daughter were returned home in lower town.

Mrs. Carter is very ill, but last night Patrolman Hassenzahl found her on the corner of Cherry and Summit streets in a pitiable condition. He sent her to the police station and there she screamed for her daughter.

It was finally decided that the best thing would be to send mother and daughter home, and it is hoped that the girl will behave herself.

THE ROBISON INSURANCE.

A Bee met Mr. Robison this morning and conversed with him concerning the payment of the insurance on the property recently destroyed by fire.

"Mr. Robison, is there anything in the report that you will not receive your insurance for 90 days?"

"Nothing whatever," was the reply. "All the companies will pay, deducting, of course, the usual 60 days' discount. The Royal, represented by Mr. Kountz, has paid its $17,500, without discount; in fact, all the insurance placed with Mr. Kountz, $27,500, has been paid. I have no doubt the other companies will pay within a few days. I like the way the Royal pays. It is very pleasant to receive your money without deduction or discount."

A LONG-SUFFERING WIFE.

Agent France, of the Humane society, has been investigating this morning a case which comes near showing total depravity in one man. The family live on lower St. Clair street, and the name is withheld this once for the wife's sake. The husband and father is one of the men drink turns into brutes. Coming home gloriously intoxicated the other night, he took a strap and visited the bedsides of his children, giving each a whipping in turn, and then wound up by laying the strap over his wife's head, shoulders and arms until the blood run down her back. Neighbors were obliged to interfere, and the case was reported to the Humane society. The facts as above were brought out by Agent France in his investigation, more upon the testimony of the neighbors than upon that of the abused wife, who has pleaded that her husband be given another chance. Mr. France, upon her pleading, refrained from arresting the man, which will increase his dose of stoneyard if he goes on a rampage again.

STEAMBOAT NEWS.

The Route Between Toledo and Detroit—Up the River.

At the annual meeting of the Star-Cole Steamboat company held in Detroit yesterday, the following officers were elected: Capt. Darius Cole, A. R. Lee, F. D. Cole, C. F. Bielman, W. K. Muir. The officers are: President and general manager, Capt. Darius Cole; vice president, A. R. Lee; secretary and treasurer, C. F. Bielman.

The Star-Cole line covered the water route between Toledo and Port Huron and will do the same next season.

The steamer Arundell, which has been lengthened 30 feet, will run between Toledo and Detroit from the first day that navigation opens to June 1. The Idlewild will then go on the route until September 1, after which the season will be closed by the Arundell. The boats will land in Toledo at the Marine building wharf, foot of Jefferson street.

The Maumee Valley Navigation company, which will run the steamer W. R. Burt between Toledo and Perrysburg, was incorporated in Columbus to-day.

QUITE A PLANT.

The New Wheeling & Lake Erie Shops.

A Brief Description of the Buildings and Tracks That Cover Ten Acres—A Large Number of Men Employed.

The new repair shops of the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad in this city are nearly completed; in fact, some work is being done in them at present, and shortly they will be in full operation, making employment for some two hundred men. The repairing for the road was formerly done at Norwalk. Already 35 men have removed to Toledo from that place, and more will follow.

Yesterday Frank H. Stark was appointed master car builder, a new office created to succeed the one of general car foreman. Mr. Stark was until recently manager of the Consolidated Rolling Stock company at East Toledo. He will have full charge of the W. & L. E. shops in this city and of all matters pertaining to car repairs.

The shops are located in Ironville, at the junction of the Wheeling & Lake Erie main track and the Toledo Belt. The shops and repair tracks cover ten acres, and are complete in every detail. The buildings, with their dimensions, are as follows: Car erecting shops, brick, 90x147 feet; wood-working shop, brick, 65x140 feet; boiler and engine room, brick, 26x41 feet; paint shop, frame, 35x108 feet; blacksmith shop, frame, 40x40; office and store-room, frame, 40x40; also round house with four stalls and foundations for four more, and a number of small buildings, such as oil and paint stores, coal bins, etc., all frame. The brick smokestack is seven feet square and 50 feet in height. There is also a transfer table 54 felt long, adjoining the erecting shop, accommodating nine tracks.

The system of water works is very complete. There are three fire plugs in the yard and two two-inch hose attachments in each of the three largest buildings. The buildings will be heated by hot air forced through large pipes by fans.

Everything in the way of repairing of the freight and passenger equipment will be done here, and 100 cars can be repaired daily if necessary.

The shops will bring a good many people to Toledo, and will help to boom things on the growing East Side.

WILL DIAZ BE UNSEATED?

More Talk About Garza's Revolution.

Claimed That the President Has Made Many Enemies by His Bad Appointments.

Laredo, Tex., Feb. 3.—A correspondent who has been traveling through northern Mexico said that he found small detachments of men who at a given signal will unite at some designated spot on the Mexican side and join Garza's standard. In the meantime they are at work among the ranchmen who are their friends. The correspondent adds:

Speaking to one of their leaders, a man higher than Garza, he told me that the grievance of the revolutionists is not so much against President Diaz as against the men he has placed in power, like Garza Galan, and others of his stamp.

The revolutionists hold Diaz responsible for his subordinates' acts. They will await their time. They have plenty of money and know where they can get more when they need it. They are not backed by any one party in Mexico, but have good friends among all parties and will fight to the bitter end to secure reforms in the administration, the same reforms for which Diaz and his party fought and which after obtaining they abandoned.

They count on the general bad state of business and the failure of crops to aid their cause, and they say that if they pursue no operations now it will only break out anew in the spring when their agents will have convinced the United States government of the necessity of remaining neutral, as they want to be on good terms with that country.

Asked if they counted on money and aid from Americans, the leader would not speak. He said the revolutionists have agents in every city of importance in Mexico working for the cause and in every Mexican military body creating dissatisfaction; and he added, Diaz did not succeed in his first revolutionary attempt, either. The revolutionists, he said, are determined to try, try again. Many of the frontier people who are considered loyal to the government and even some who are holding office, are waiting to see if there is the least turn in the tide against Diaz to abandon him.

Many would have done so before this had not the United States interfered in favor of Diaz. The feeling on the frontier is anti-Diaz, though in the opinion of the correspondent, he is too strong in power to be upset. The rebels also claim that at the proper time prominent leaders will come to the front.

A Maine newspaper published recently reproductions of five silhouettes of members of the classes of 1824 and 1825, Bowdoin college. The silhouettes were made by a traveling artist. The portraits are those of Franklin Pierce, Jonathan Cilley, William Pitt Fessenden, William Jeffrey Reed and Hiram Hager Hobbs. Hawthorne was a Bowdoin student at the time, but he could not be induced to sit for the artist.

It Would Seem

That at last a cure has been found for Bronchitis, Consumption, weak, sensitive or sore lungs. For these complaints innumerable remedies have been tried, but none heretofore have proved successful. The unrivalled success which attends the use of ROUGH ON COUGHS places it at the head of the front rank of Pulmonary remedies. Though a new remedy, cures have already been effected of cases thought beyond reach of any possible remedy. Reports of absolute cure of cases believed utterly hopeless are received daily. 50c. and $1.

Great Triumph.

The universal success of ROUGH ON COUGHS, in Consumption, Coughs, Bronchitis and Pulmonary diseases, is attracting notice throughout the country. It is without question a remarkable preparation, and though recently introduced, has given abundant evidence of peculiar efficacy in controlling Pulmonary diseases. Cures of severest forms of long standing Throat and Lung diseases reported every day. Relief is immediate and certain.

Important Discovery.

Many years have elapsed since the discovery of a remedy so important to the people as that of ROUGH ON COUGHS, a new and successful remedy in the treatment of Consumption, Bronchitis, Chronic Coughs and all Pulmonary diseases. The uniform certainty of its beneficial effects, its peculiar adaptability and specific effects upon the Throat and Lungs in disease, proves it the long-desired panacea for a class of diseases heretofore considered incurable. All sufferers are confidentially requested to give it a trial. 50c. and $1.00 bottles. At Druggists. Large size, express prepaid, on receipt of $1. E. S. WELLS, Jersey City, N. J.

We hear about Griffin every day, but Flickinger and Heller appear to be lost. What's the matter?

Capt. P. H. Dowling is a candidate for district delegate to the Chicago convention.

The latest re-districting scheme places Lucas, Fulton and Wood in the same boat. If it shall so be fixed, what a lively row the republicans will have.

Matta's circular was scarcely more of an affront to the government than President Harrison's appointment of Judge Woods is to the people of this country. As one was withdrawn, so should the other be.

There is sound business wisdom in the proposition to sell all the canals in Ohio except the Miami and Erie, and the Ohio canal, and convert them into ship canals. The enterprise would cost a heap of money, but as a business investment it would pay.

That was a real cute trick by which the Foraker members of the house had the Brice resolution referred to Senator Sherman. Very cute for the boys just now, but they will be as mad as a wet hen when they learn how easily Uncle John can pocket the resolution and the whole business. Mr. Sherman and Mr. Brice will not have a serious quarrel.

Ex-Gov. Thayer is a typical republican office-holder. His attorney advised him to quietly step out. He declares he can hang on to the office to which the court has decided he had never a right, a month longer, or until the supreme court mandate is issued, and he purposes to do it. The toe of a boot well applied would be a virtuous assistant in Mr. Thayer's case.

Congressman Morse, of Massachusetts, returned to the attack yesterday, in the House, and again scored Sherman Hoar for being "a young man, in the kindergarten of politics," and for daring to assume to represent Gen. Banks old district in congress. It is a grievous accusation; years will correct the misfortune of Mr. Hoar, but Mr. Morse is beyond hope for such benefit.

The Czar of Russia has issued an edict, binding the peasant tenantry of his empire to the lands they occupy, subject to strict regulations by the crown, in fact, returning them to serfdom. Between driving a portion of his people out of the country and declaring that others shall be bound not to move within it, the czar may be able to enjoy his absolutism, but he is giving the imperial coronet a bad bang if he expects to pose before the world as a Christian ruler.

Twenty years ago Gen. Garfield, chairman of the committee on appropriations, said: "We may reasonably expect that the expenditures for pensions will hereafter steadily decrease, unless our legislation should be unwarrantably extravagant." When this declaration was made the cost of pensions was $29,000,000 a year. Pension Commisioner Raum hopes that $160,000,000 will be sufficient the ensuing year." Has Gen. Garfield's apprehension of "unwarrantable extravagance" been fulfilled?

There has been a Committee of Fifty organized in Philadelphia to promote municipal reform. The number seems absurdly small, when the extent of official corruption there is considered. However, the committee is very much in earnest, and undertakes the cleaning out of the Augean stables with right good will. Mr. Seth Low has delivered a public address for the committee, in which he told the Philadelphians that their city had "lost more money by stealing during the last twenty years than the United States government had lost in all its history." No wonder the hour for reform has struck in the republican-governed City of Brotherly Love.

The city natural gas line ought to flourish, and the trustees should have no difficulty in bringing millions of surplus gas to Toledo. This roseate view of the situation is based upon the jumping jack propensity of the council to do everything the trustees request, whenever the string is pulled. Now, as a matter of fact, there is not a man in Toledo who can assert with any degree of positiveness that more gas can be obtained, still, the council vote unanimously to give scheming contractors good bonds for doubtful certificates, and authorize the trustees to sink another $120,000 in high-priced prospecting. Good business sense would suggest a thorough investigation before proceeding further. Disinterested and loyal pipe liners recommend investigation, but the string is pulled and the councilmen respond with reckless haste. Only one course is left, and that is to enjoin the bond issue. Hold it up, until the people are satisfied the new supply is ample for the demands that will be made upon it.

SCHOOL STATISTICS COMPARED.

The Toronto (Ont.) Empire makes note of the fact that in late years there has been a tendency, not only to increase the number of women teachers in the schools of the Dominion, but to increase their salaries. It says, "In our High Schools, all teachers are placed upon the same level and women, employed in like work, receive the same remuneration as men. The average salary throughout the province of Ontario is $883; in cities like Toronto, it is much higher." The Canadian Educational Monthly makes comparison of these figures with those furnished by some states of the Union. It says:

"In Massachusetts, the average salary per annum for men is $930; for women, $302. In North Carolina we find the extraordinary averages of $77 and $69 respectively. Taking the United States generally, we find that the average salary of assistant teachers in 467 cities is $508."

There is much to provoke comment in these contrasts. In the province of Ontario, one average covers the field for men and women. Then look at those Massachusetts figures. In Ohio, in statistics for 1880, we find the average monthly wages in township elementary schools—men $37, women $27. Township high schools—men $63, women $37. In separate district elementary—$57 men, $44 women. In separate district high schools—$79 men, $65 women. Employed in the state are 19,215 teachers, and their aggregate salaries in that year ('89) amounted to $6,576,757.58, making the average through the state, $342 and a fraction. This does not include the salaries of superintendents. In Toledo, according to report for the same year, the average salary of teachers was $492; in 1887 it was $454. Toledo leads many other cities, yet Toronto figures are a long way in advance.

In no state in the Union is the standard of qualifications placed higher, or perhaps so high, as in California. A graduate of the state normal is paid $80 a month for elementary district work. Their own graduates are given preference.

When the high grade of work demanded and the importance of our educational advancement is considered—it being the foundation upon which the security of the government rests—and when the salaries paid government officers, state and national, base ball players, railway managers and their under officers, singers, dancers, actors and circus riders, when these are considered, there is cause to blush for the figures as they stand. And the more for shame at the discrepancy between the wages of men and women who perform the same work. A page in the United States senate gets better pay than a woman teacher in our grammar schools.

The sentiment of thinking people on this subject is, let the standard of qualifications be placed high and wages be raised in keeping, and all distinctions of sex be abolished. To what extent reform for these unequal conditions is in the hands of the teachers is a matter for them to consider. Their organizations never include questions of financial import. We boast, and with reason, of our school system, but it is far from perfect. The province of Ontario is in advance of the majority of our states, in some lines, according to statistics presented. There is dim remembrance in our minds that some very appreciable first awards, bestowed by judges at the Philadelphia centennial, went to the schools of Ontario, Canada. At least, our neighbor should not be able long to taunt us of the inequality of wages depending upon sex, or of lesser salaries for the same grade of work.

UNJUST DISCRIMINATION.

The Ohio Central and the Hocking Valley Railways are distinctively Toledo roads. The public spirit, energy and cash of Toledoans made their construction possible. It is only reasonable to expect that Toledo shall be treated fairly at all times by these corporations, yet they are both engaged at present in discriminating against this city. Each company charges $1.10 per ton for hauling steam coal from the Hocking Valley mines to Toledo, while for a longer haul to Cleveland the rate is only 85 cents. This difference of 25 cents must be paid by every owner of a boiler in Toledo. It is worse than discrimination. It is an outrage upon Toledo for which there is no excuse. Toledo does not ask special favors, but it does reasonably insist that the Hocking Valley and the Ohio Central roads shall treat Toledo as fairly as they do Cleveland.

The following is from the testimony of a poor woman of the East End, London, at a coroner's inquest: "My average earnings per week were 4s. 9d., upon which myself, four children, the deceased and its mother had to subsist. Out of that I had to pay 3s. for rent. I never had more than 3s. per week to live on after paying the rent. My children have nothing but dry bread to eat for days together." Surely, church and state and college and all the people should join in investigating the industrial problem of to-day until it is discovered what is wrong, where such a condition of life, or of living death, as is here outlined, is the lot of any sober and industrious woman. Civilization is indeed a failure if there is no escape from such conditions possible, and if the way out cannot be found and is not followed.

The Boston Herald is authority for the statement that the oyster is taking the place of the bean as the favorite food of Bostonians. We all know that democracy has superceded Hamiltonian republicanism as the political faith of the people. As for religious tenets, where Theodore Parker was once barely tolerated, a recent Sunday issue of the Boston Globe contained over two columns of notices of services for that day which were avowedly free-thinkers meetings, or of that ilk. At this rate the Hub of the universe will soon have lost all distinguishing characteristics, and its residents will be obliged to give up the claim they have so long calmly carried along with them of being the only people on the earth—to speak of.

The unanimous verdict of the jury, in the case of Carlyle Harris, the young medical student of New York, charged with poisoning to death his girl-wife whom he had married secretly, has been pronounced—guilty of murder in the first degree. The verdict was given on the anniversary of his wife's death. Except some intervening hindrance can be managed, the gay libertine who boasted of his power, will sit in the electrical chair provided for murderers by the state of New York.

That phenominally industrious young man, the emperor of Germany, has been giving a personal inspection to the kitchens of his own palace, looking at the pots and pans to see if they are kept clean, etc. That's what it is to be the autocratic ruler of an empire. Think of the revolt that would ensue in an American kitchen if the lord and master of the house should undertake such an inspection.

The Oratorio society of Grand Rapids gave a free performance of the "Messiah" on a Sunday evening. For weeks before the performance it was denounced by the clergy of the city as a desecration of the day. The hall was crowded to the door and hundreds did not gain admission. It would seem the verdict of the people was that this rendition of sacred music, without fees, was lawful on the Sabbath day.

Mr. McKeighan, of Nebraska, asks the coinage committee of congress: "Why, after 1885, when the United States had one of its largest trade balances, did we have to cushion the beams of our cars to carry tramps on?" If Mr. McKeighan goes on springing such unanswerable conundrums as this upon the legislators he will get himself disliked.

Thus late comes the added information that excessive cigarette smoking was a prime factor in the demise of the Duke of Clarence. Time enough, money enough and sufficient constitutional weakness will carry almost any young man out by the same "royal" route.

"It is said that a barrel is better than a jug for campaign purposes." Thus a republican journal admonishes the manipulators of its party. What's the matter with both in conjunction with a blocks-of-five Dudley map thrown in?

"I have fought the good fight. I have kept the faith," was the last scriptural quotation by Rev. Mr. Spurgeon. The words were inscribed on his coffin.

ABOUT PEOPLE.

The emperor of Japan has conferred the insignia of the Order of the Chrysanthemum upon President Diaz, of Mexico.

Mad Anthony Wayne's old powder horn has just been presented by Charles F. Rockwell, of Honesdale, Pa., to the local collection of Valley Forge relics.

The wife of Max O'Rell, who is figuring publicly as a writer, having translated her husband's books, is an Englishwoman by birth and the daughter of a ship-owner of Devonshire.

The rabbis of many of the synagogues of New York city have delivered sermons in eulogy of the late Cardinal Manning, and the Jewish papers contain many articles in his praise.

Queen Marguerite of Italy has in her extensive collection of gloves, boots and shoes worn at different periods in Italian history what are declared to be the sandals worn by the tyrant Nero.

Miss Jean Ingelow has expressed her opinion on women's rights with outspoken frankness. "I don't approve of them at all," she said; "we can not have rights and privileges and I prefer privileges."

Mrs. Edward C. Rutledge, who recently died at Statesburg, S. C., was the daughter of William Lowndes, who Henry Clay said was the wisest man he ever knew. Lowndes, during the war of 1812, was recognized as the founder of the United States navy. At the time of his death in 1822 he was a prominent candidate for the presidency.

Among the European princes who are now in active naval service are Prince Henry of Prussia, Archduke Charles Stephen of Austria, Archduke Leopold of Tuscany, Prince Waldemar of Denmark, Prince George of Greece, Grand Duke Alexis, Grand Duke Constantine and Grand Duke George of Russia, Prince Oscar of Sweden, the Duke of Genoa, Prince Louis of Savoy and Prince George of Wales.

MENTIONED ON THE STREETS.

That the city maintains a fair degree of health.

That big business is being done at the People's this week.

That the bakers' disagreement will be confined to a few shops.

That flim-flamming on Market Space should be brought to a speedy end.

That the illuminating gas ordinance now lies on the mayor's desk for action.

That there is soon to be another surprise for the people in insurance circles.

That the Bronson will contest will bring together a big array of legal talent.

That there is considerable demand for some of Toledo's preachers in the lecture field.

That patrons of the Robison lines will have to bear patiently with short service for a few weeks.

That lake and river men are banking on a profitable season's business when navigation opens up.

That the Presque Isle management contemplates introducing several popular features next summer.

That beneficial societies have had serious drains on their exchequers during the prevalence of the grip.

That City Solicitor Read is hustling on the preparation of a bill for a building inspector for the city.

That the sun did put in an appearance for a few minutes yesterday, for the gratification of the ground hog.

That a little pushing is going on requesting personal tax delinquents to put in an appearance at the treasurer's office.

That Bob Timpany will be a candidate for police clerk on the democratic ticket the coming spring.

That city contractors are anxiously awaiting an opportunity to get to work, especially on sewers and other public improvements.

That if many more bills are introduced for redistricting purposes, it will be difficult to prognosticate where Lucas county will land.

That City Auditor Walker has been kept so busy keeping track of bonds and bond sales he has not had time to prepare his annual report.

That Bill Kirkby's friends are still sanguine he will tree the railroad commissionership—an idea which the genial William himself shares.

That there is a Charity Ball at Wheeler's to-night, but the one in which the city is most interested will be held at the Pythian castle on the 12th inst.

That the matter of an appropriation for Toledo's harbor is now in the hands of Congressman Haynes. The city has afforded all aid possible in the line of furnishing statistics.

That if the election was billed for to-morrow Street Commissioner Bower would be made to feel the wrath of the people on account of the filthy condition in which the streets are left.

Blair's Present Acceptable Service.

The recent announcement in the United States senate that Mr. Blair's resignation of the Chinese mission had not yet been accepted is an error. THE BRONSON WILL.

Attorney Ford Says There Will Be No Difficulty in Holding It.

The Bronson will contest now pending issue in the common pleas court, promises to be a most interesting one, and will in all probability be fought by either side to the last resort.

Mr. J. D. Ford, who has been retained by the trustee of the estate, in conversation with a Bee this morning, said: "Yes, we are going into the case to stay as long as there is an appeal left to resort to. We will file an answer in a day or two, denying the allegation that Mr. Bronson was not capable of making or directing the will. Our case and whole plan of action will be based on the provisions of the very will which the other side claim is illegal.

"We will claim that the tenor of the will itself by the provisions set forth show remarkably good judgment and discernment. We will prove that Mr. Bronson was a competent, clear-headed business man, and that he appreciated the effects of the provisions of the will, and had carefully studied the situation in every detail. His object evidently was to put the property where his grandchildren could have a competency, and yet none of it would be lost through bad management."

THE C. C. CHURCH.

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the Central Congregational church took place last night, and the business features were attended to after the partaking of a fine supper prepared by the ladies, and to which full justice was done.

Rev. Dr. Bacon presided over the congregational gathering. Reports of officers showed the society to be in excellent condition, with bright prospects. Election of officers resulted as follows:

Trustee—W. S. Thurstin.
Deacon—C. W. Buell.
Deaconess—Mrs. Helen Humphrey.
Clerk—John H. Seaver.
Treasurer—H. C. Ellis.
Financial Secretary—Mrs. C. C. Jenkins.

An adjournment was taken to allow Dr. Bacon and other officers to submit their reports in writing.

MAPLE CITY GOSSIP.

Interesting Contest in an Agricultural Society—Personal.

Norwalk, O., Feb. 3.—(Special)—The annual meeting of the Huron County Agricultural society was the most spirited and exciting held in years. It was made so on account of a desperate effort to elect John W. Lee a director and eventually president of the society. Fifteen ballots were taken and John was "in it" every ballot. His friends stuck by him like a burr. He failed to get it, however, by one vote. The following are the directors chosen: Ralph Valentine, North Monroeville; A. N. Barnard, Norwalk; Charles McClave, New London; E. L. McCague, Bronson (re-elected); Milo Johnson, Peru (re-elected); J. H. Brailey, Norwalk; C. M. Webster, Norwalk. The directors holding over are as follows: E. P. Snyder, Peru; A. C. Greene, Norwalk; W. P. Noble, Ripley; G. D. Silliman, Fairfield; T. C. Laylin, Norwalk; Thomas Reeder, Hartland; D. C. King, Norwalk.

The directors will meet in two weeks to select officers. W. P. Noble is talked of for president, and D. C. King for vice-president.

BUILDERS' EXCHANGE.

Steps Taken to Form Such an Institution in Toledo.

Over 300 persons interested in the building trade of the city met in the Blade building last evening to discuss the feasibility of forming a Builders' exchange. Architect Tom Huber, of Bacon & Huber, has been the moving spirit in the matter, and it is largely through his efforts the movement has taken tangible shape.

Mr. Huber called the gathering to order, and explained the objects. It is the purpose to have an exchange for builders similar to that of the Produce Exchange for grain men.

John W. Lee was elected chairman and Ed Weiss secretary.

Remarks were made by various gentlemen, after which names were signed of firms agreeing to unite with the exchange.

On motion of Mr. M. J. Malone, a committee of one was appointed from each trade represented, to prepare a constitution and by-laws, and report to another meeting to be held next Tuesday evening. The committee is composed of the following: Excavators, Casper Sacks; stone masons; Mike Henahan, brick masons, W. J. Spear; carpenters, A. Bentley; cast iron, A. Newton; plumbers, L. Walker; painters, J. C. Romeis; hardware, Geo. C. Schunck; sand and lime, P. H. Degnan; plasterers, John McCaffery; sash and blinds, Fred Witker; roofers, E. Arnold; furnace and tin men, G. P. Marquardt; iron, M. Donovan; electrical appliances, Emil Grah; architects, Thos. F. Huber.

THE CHOIR BOYS

Are Feasted and Awarded Various Prizes.

Last evening the members of Trinity church boy choir enjoyed the semi-annual choir supper in the church parlors. After a social hour the party seated itself at one long, handsomely decorated table. Forty covers were laid. There were present besides the members of the choir, Rev. and Mrs. Scadding, Rev. Bamford, Geo. W. Davis, Fay Rogers, Clifford Batelle, Geo. W. Stevens and Miss Poulson. It was a merry party. An elegant repast was served under the direction of Mrs. Waring and Mrs. Merrill, assisted by the young ladies of the church. Rev. Scadding awarded the prizes as follows: First honor, the Bishop Atwill badge, for reverence and churchly conduct, Emory Rook; the Geo. W. Davis prizes for application, each $5, Wm. Detman and Edward De Bolt; the Francis B. Swayne prizes, $5 and $3, for improvement, Harry Jenkins and Wm. Ward; the Chas. L. Reynolds prizes for attendance, $5 and $4, Emory Rook and Walter Sigafoose; the Chas. F. Curtis prize for good choir work, $5, John Bird. It was a most pleasant event, as these gatherings of the choir have always been.

WANTS INFORMATION.

Mr. W. H. Maher Calls Upon Alderman Macomber for More Deductions.

"I wish you would induce Alderman Macomber, that shining light of finances, to do a little more deducing," said Wm. H. Maher, to a Bee, this morning. "You will remember that he deduced the receipts of the city gas line for an average period of four months to be $96,000. Those who have the honor of knowing this lofty-minded son of the Puritan fathers, and of Daniel Webster, know that he wouldn't make a misstatement for half a dollar, but his deductions don't seem to jibe with any facts accessible to the rest of us. Here is Secretary Brown reporting, officially, to the trustees:

Gas sold in November.....$10,393 29
Gas sold in December..... 16,320 01

"This figures for an average period of two months only, $26,713.30. Can't you find out where Macomber gets his figures? Or did he deduce them from his imagination for the special purpose of helping action on the new bond issue? Forbid it, Parker Pilsbury and William Lloyd Garrison! Please touch the button of his eloquence and let him deduce some more."

PRESIDENT KNISELY.

The American Banker Talks Very Kindly of Him.

The American Banker of January 30 contains the following complimentary notice of one of Toledo's prominent citizens:

Isaac E. Knisely has been elected president of the Northern National bank, of Toledo, O. The new president is a lawyer of ability and will bring to the management of the bank a judgment matured by long experience in commercial affairs. Perhaps no other person in the city is better versed in the matter of credits than Mr. Knisely is said to be, and those who know him do not hesitate to say he is certain to make a president who will be a credit to the Northern National bank, and greatly increase its business.

HUMANE SOCIETY MEETS

And Completes Its List of Officers for the Year.

Vice-Presidents and Directors for 1892-3—Still Secretary Richardson—Reports and Other Business.

The February meeting of the Humane society was held last evening, President Brown in the chair. After the reading and approval of the minutes, Mrs. R. G. Bacon and Messrs. O. S. Bond and C. H. Buck, the committee appointed to select candidates for vice-presidents and directors, presented the names of the following persons: Mrs. A. M. C. Barnes, Mrs. S. H. Morgan, Miss Anna C. Mott, Mrs. O. S. Bond, and W. A. Rundell for the five vice presidents. The remaining vice-presidents and directors: Mesdames Rosa L. Segur, A. E. Macomber, R. G. Bacon, A. E. Lang, A. B. Cole, B. A. Stevens, F. B. Swayne, V. W. Granger, jr., S. C. Schenck, J. R. Seney, Miss Amy H. Brown, Dr. E. M. Goodwin, Messrs. J. G. Lamson, T. C. Rowland, C. H. Buck, H. E. King, James Hodge, S. C. Schenck, F. B. Swayne, George W. Davis, W. T. Walker, R. G. Bacon, L. G. Richardson, Herman Baumbach, J. V. Newton, Wm. Kirkby and N. B. Bacon.

The rules were suspended and the secretary instructed to cast the unanimous vote of the society for the election of the persons named as vice presidents and directors of the Toledo Humane society for 1892-3.

The summary of the report of Agent France for January work done was as follows: Relief furnished, 8; cases of cruelty to children investigated, 1; to wife and family, 10; convictions for cruelty to wife and family, 3; admonitions, 5; charges withdrawn by wife, 4; sent to Lancaster, 1 boy; to Children's home, 1; horses shot, 2; cases of fast driving, 1; convictions, 1; horses ordered to be laid up, 2; number of children involved in cases investigated, 40; number of office calls, 341; total number of cases during the month, 31.

Secretary Richardson again attempted to decline the honor of the office, for the reason that pressure of business prevented him from giving proper attention to its duties. The society would by no means accept his proffered resignation, and he retains the office, the understanding being that the minutes of the society will hereafter be kept by Mrs. Brooks, clerk of the office, who will also perform such other duties of secretary as Mr. Richardson has not time to perform.

The grievance of the society against the workhouse board was again discussed, but action on the same was postponed until another meeting. Secretary Richardson suggests the enactment of legislation which shall forbid workhouse boards paroling prisoners convicted on prosecution by humane societies, unless the society recommend such parole.

After some discussion the meeting night of the society was changed to the second Tuesday of each month, a number of members having other engagements on first Tuesdays.

GREEN GOODS MEN.

They Are Flooding the Western State with Circulars.

Fairbury, Ill., Feb. 3.—The green goods men are at present getting in their work in this section of the state. Their circulars have been received by many within the past few days. They always inclose the circulars of explanation—which in all cases are unsigned. Then they have the address on a single slip of paper, and also an apparent newspaper clipping accompanies them. The newspaper clippings are printed as though they had been cut out of New York daily papers, the most of these showing headlines of the Sun and Times, and all of them are mailed in the New York postoffice. There have been received two sets—one giving the address of George Briggs, 266 West One Hundred and Fifty-fifth street, New York, and of J. Schmultz, 181 Mott street New York.

MARGARET MATHER'S MOTHER

Dies in Poor Circumstances in Detroit.

Detroit, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Ann Finlayson, mother of Margaret Mather, the actress, dropped dead here last evening. She lived at 149 Arndt street and was taken sick at a grocery store, dying before she got home.

Her maiden name was Mather and she was born in England 73 years ago, having lived here for 32 years, during five of which asthma has been killing her.

She lived in poor circumstances and one would never imagine her the mother of the talented woman bearing her name.

City Auditor's Office.

Toledo, O., Jan. 5th, 1892.

The committee on ways and means of the common council of the city of Toledo, Ohio, and the undersigned, invite sealed proposals at this office to

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 8TH, 1892,

at 7 o'clock p. m. for the purchase of Street Improvement Bonds to the amount of Forty-three Thousand Seven Hundred and Ninety-four and 16-100 ($43,794 16-100) Dollars, bearing date Jan. 18, 1892, and payable as follows: Four Thousand One Hundred and Ninety-four and 16-100 ($4,194 16-100) Dollars on Jan. 18, 1893, and Four Thousand Four Hundred Dollars at the expiration of every six months thereafter, to and including July 18, 1897, at the office of the city treasurer, with interest at the rate of five (5) per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually at the same place as evidenced by coupons to be attached to said bonds.

Said Improvement Bonds are issued pursuant to Section 2704 to 2707 of the Revised Statutes of the State of Ohio, and also under an ordinance of the common council of the city of Toledo, Ohio, "To provide for the issue of Improvement Bonds to pay the cost and expense of the improvement of Lagrange street, from Bancroft street to City Line."—Passed Dec. 14th, 1891.

The denomination of these bonds; first payment one of $994.16 and seven of $500; each payment thereafter eight of $500 and one of $400.

The said bonds will be sold at not less than par and accrued interest, to the highest bidder.

Bidders will be required to state the gross amount they will pay for the bonds besides the accrued interest to date of delivery at Toledo, Ohio. They will also be required to deposit with each bid an amount of money or a certified check on some responsible bank equal to at least five (5) per centum of the par value of the bonds, so bid for, as a guarantee of good faith, and that the bid so made (if successful) will be fulfilled in accordance with the terms thereof, and the requirements of the law and ordinances. When the bids have been examined and the award made according to law, all monies or checks deposited as guarantees shall be returned to the depositor, or held by the city auditor subject to his call except that of the successful bidder, which shall be held and considered, and accepted as part payment of the bonds so awarded or sold, but should there be any repudiation of the contract or agreement, or refusal to accept and pay for the bonds so sold, then and in that case the deposit shall be forfeited to the city of Toledo, and shall become the property of said city, in compensation for loss and expenses attending the sale of said bonds and as liquidated damages for repudiation of bid. And no bid will be received if not accompanied by money or check aforesaid.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Proposals should be addressed to the Auditor of the city of Toledo, Ohio, and be indorsed "Proposals for improvement bonds."

MRS. GRAHAM'S
Cucumber and Elder Flower Cream
Is not a cosmetic in the sence in which the term is popularly used, but permanently beautifies. It creates a soft, smooth, clear, velvety skin, and by daily use gradually makes the complexion several shades whiter. It is a constant protection from the effects of sun and wind and prevents sunburn and freckles, and blackheads will never come while you use it. It cleanses the face far better than soap and water, nourishes and builds up the skin tissues and thus prevents the formation of wrinkles It gives the freshness, clearness and smoothness of skin that you had when a little girl. Every lady, young or old, ought to use it, as it gives a more youthful appearance to any lady and that permanently. It contains no acid, powder or alkali, and is as harmless as dew and as nourishing to the skin as dew is to the flower. Price $1.00. Ask your druggist for it.

THE LITTLE BROWNIE MAN.

There's sand upon the parlor floor,
There's mud upon the stairs,
And finger marks upon the door,
And on my gilded chairs.

A charcoal sketch adorns the walk—
In bedroom, kitchen, hall,
Are scenes in pencil, pen and chalk,
On window-sill and wall.

And when I ask "Who can it be
That did all this?" Why, then,
A boyish treble answers me—
"I dess 'twas Brownie Man!"

He weeds the garden with a spoon,
And cuts old Carlo's hair,
And from a pumpkin carves a moon,
And hangs it in mid-air.

I find him standing on his head
Before the mirror tall
And playing on my fresh-dressed bed
With kitten, dog and ball.

And when I chide, he hugs me so
(Resist him—ah, who can?)
And says, "Why, mamma, don't you know!
I is a Brownie Man?"

And when at night the house is still,
And he is safe in bed,
I pray "Dear Lord, keep from all ill
And bless this busy head;

And make me patient still to be
With every boyish plan!"
For what would life be worth to me
Without my Brownie Man?

The Jewish immigration to New York will be far greater this year than it was last year, according to Dr. Goldberg, who recently visited Europe and gathered information there.

The color of the sky has again asserted itself. A Polish chemist has discovered that liquid oxygen is not colorless. In a layer of it 30 milimeters thick he finds that it has a bright sky-blue color.

Always there is some trouble or other in store for "man and beast." If it is not politics or the bacilli it is something else. A woodtick has been discovered in California that kills cattle and horses by sapping their blood.

The Woman's club, of New Orleans, can hardly be called a society of high livers. Not long ago it gave a banquet to 110 persons at a cost of but $30. It is needless to say that the men were not full.

A peculiar disease, which cannot be diagnosed, is killing cattle near Martinsville, Ind. A peculiar feature of the disease is the cattle affected will begin stamping, as if they were fighting flies when first attacked.

The men of the wheel, provided they are any kind of a success at it, are always enthusiastic about it. The Rev. L. M. Kumler, of Ohio, says that whenever he can persuade another fellow mortal to the uses and pleasures of cycling he feels that that man's life has been lengthened.

The first war ship constructed in Maine was the Wassuc, which was built by G. W. Lawrence at Portland in 1864. The Wassuc was a single-turreted monitor of the Ericsson pattern, 225 feet long, carrying one 150-pound Parrot rifle. She had an oak frame, but was plated with iron.

The Vienna congress of analytical chemists appointed a committee to consider whether sanitary control ought not to be extended to hair-dressers' shops and public baths, and whether the daily disinfection of combs and brushes used in shops and public places ought not to be made obligatory by legislation.

A number of military experts claim that the plan to secure a rifle underneath horses so that the muzzle projects between the animal's forelegs, from which position it is to be fired by a trooper when charging is reasonable, and that at short range foot soldiers will have to give way before cavalry.

The managers of the Trans-Caspian railroad are having a hard time keeping the line between Oxus river and Bokhaha clear of sand. The road passes through wastes of drifting sand piled up in long wave-like heaps. The slightest breeze causes the top of the crests to blow further on, and the sand sifts on the track in great quantities.

Colonel Ingersoll tells the following: "When an Indian was asked what he knew he took a stick and drew a circle in the sand and said, 'Indian know all in that circle.' Then he drew a larger circle around that one and said, 'White man know all in this circle, but outside of this circle Indian know just as much as the white man.'"

The Russian government has just ordered two vessels from Herr Schichau, of Elbing, and preparations are being made at the yards in St. Petersburg for the construction of two ironclads of 4,020 tons. The yards at this latter place are also being considerably enlarged to enable them to undertake the construction of eight vessels this year.

The old Mansion house that is being torn down at Beaver Falls, Pa., was in its day the finest edifice in western Pennsylvania, and many wandering whites and Indians visited it out of curiosity. It was built by Isaac Wilson in 1775, and was occupied by him for many days as a dwelling and at times for a fortress, for the country was full of hostile Indians in those days.

Chicago has a new scheme to defeat the growler. Free coffee is dispensed from a wagon that goes about the city visiting the neighborhoods of saloons frequented by workingmen. The wagon contains an organ and a couple of violinists, and between the music and the savory odor of the hot fluid many beer drinkers are encouraged to empty their tin pails and take coffee.

While talking to some Harvard divinity students the other day, Dr. Lyman Abbott offered this distinction between conservatism and radicalism: "The radical says, 'Break the shell and let the contents out.' The conservative says, 'Don't do it; you will only have a broken egg and a dead bird.' The radical replies, 'If you keep the shell whole, you'll only have a dead bird and an addled egg.'"

A London correspondent says: "Igurd Ibsen, son of the famous writer, is to be the chief of the new state department of foreign affairs that Norway is about to establish independently of the Swedish department at Stockholm. If young Ibsen shares his father's notions about Swedish royalty, the new department will soon enliven the relations between the sister kingdoms. The Isben people are not so terrible as the critics paint them."

A woman who died in the almshouse at Biddeford, Me., recently, aged nearly 100 years, had passed through some queer experiences. She came to this country in 1846, and for 30 years she was an inmate of the almshouse. In that time she had been laid out as dead three times, but on each occasion she came to life in time to put a stop to the funeral arrangements. Only a few days before her death an undertaker was called to prepare her remains for burial, but when he arrived she was sitting up in bed.

The Olympia (Wash.) Tribune reports a curious phenomenon there. The brick wall of an old well between twenty and thirty feet deep has for some time been gradually protruding through the ground, until now it sticks up into the air like a funnel to the height of ten or fifteen feet. The bricks have not been disturbed, and but for the clay that adheres to them they present as fine a piece of workmanship as the day they were laid. The bottom of the well has risen with the brick wall, for the depth of the water has not materially changed. By using a ladder a bucket can be let down and filled with water.

SHARP HUCKSTERS.

How They Swindle the Innocent Farmer

Out of His Load of Produce, and He Has No Redress, as He Don't Know Where it Has Gone.

While Mayor Emmick is looking for reforms to push and the council are trying to protect the city's interests against all the adverse pressure that is brought to bear, these gentlemen might do well to turn their eyes toward the Superior street market and then look for some remedy that would put a stop to the thieving practices of some of the hucksters who do business there.

On that market space, under the very eyes of the police station, is an organized gang of little else than thieves, and they have been in existence for a long time, robbing, by means of swindling tricks, whenever they can find an innocent victim.

These fellows do not hold up their prey at the muzzle of a revolver in "money or your life style," but they employ methods that are just as effective and much safer for the operators.

The shrewdness of their tricks is evidenced by the fact that thus far they have been able to keep out of the clutches of the law, notwithstanding the fact that they are almost continually watched by detectives and other officers.

These fellows work under the guise of hucksters, and their leaders are two accomplished swindlers that do the main part of the work. The prey consists of farmers who come to town with loads of corn, pork, potatoes or other produce to sell. The game is a regular flim-flam, only on a larger scale than that usually worked over a counter.

The gang have several places that they use as headquarters as best suits their convenience. At present most of their operations are carried on in a barn, less than a block from the market space. They also have rented a basement near by, and not long ago they occupied a cellar on Broadway.

The manner in which their swindles are carried on is best shown by a few instances of recent occurrence.

Some time ago a young farmer lad came to town with a load of fine pork. He was met on Broadway by a man who wanted to buy the load, and a bargain was soon struck at the market price. The hogs were taken to a basement near by and unloaded. As they were being weighed the young farmer thought the animals seemed to be of light weight, and when all had been put on the scales he was convinced that he was being swindled, and refused to take the money for the weight shown on the scales, but rushing down to the police station procured an officer, who returned with him. The hogs and scales were found on the sidewalk, but the weights and everything else were gone, and the men had flown. The farmer loaded his pork again, and upon reaching the market space had the load weighed, and found that he had just 400 pounds more of pork than the first scales had credited him with.

Another farmer had a load of potatoes and knew just how many bushels there were on the wagon. He sold them to the same pair of hucksters, and delivered them at the barn previously spoken of. Here they were measured out and put in a bin, but when the load was emptied he found that he was about a dozen bushels short. He could not find his potatoes, however, as there were bins on every side filled with potatoes, and it would be impossible to tell which was his. This swindle is worked as follows:

In unloading the potatoes, one potato out of every bushel is placed on the floor as a tally. Every once in a while when the farmer was not looking the hucksters would throw a bushel into the next bin, which was partially filled and neglect to put a tally in the pile. If the farmer thinks he is short, the bin is measured over again and found to correspond with the huckster's figures, and the farmer is at a loss to know what has become of his potatoes. The same game is worked with corn.

These hucksters also have various schemes for giving short measure when they sell their produce, and so they make ill-gotten gains at both ends of the transaction.

The leaders of this gang are well known to the police, but their operations are so skillfully conducted as to elude the law. Whenever they see that they are getting into a tight place they drop the whole game and disappear. In this manner innocent farmers have been beaten out of thousands of dollars.

These fellows have regular licenses as hucksters, and it might be salutary for the mayor to revoke these licenses for a while unless the swindling was stopped. That would end their work, as they could not do a huckster business without a license.

The chief of police and the mayor are becoming tired of the complaints in this quarter, and it is probable that several of the licenses may be ended very soon.

ENTERTAINMENTS.

The Charity Ball at Wheeler's To-Night.

Coming Engagement of Miss Margaret Mather—The Byrons in The Plunger.

Belasco and De Mille's great society success, The Charity Ball, will be presented at Wheeler's this evening by one of Frohman's excellent companies. There has been a large sale of seats, and a good house is assured. This piece was presented in Toledo last year, and made a great hit, as it has done everywhere. The play deals largely with high life in New York city, the plot is exceedingly strong, and the dialogue is clear cut and interesting, making the play one of exceptional merit.

Margaret Mather.

Margaret Mather's appearance at the Wheeler the night of Feb. 11, in her latest and greatest success, her double comedy bill, should be made the occasion of one of the largest and most brilliant audiences of the year, and it is probable that it will be. There is no star on the boards to-day whose reputation for adequate, even great, work surpasses that of this fair star, and her engagements here in the past have been the events of the year. For her coming this year she lists that clever conceit, Nance Oldfield, which novelist Charles Reade gave the stage and which Ellen Terry made the success of last year in the London Lyceum theater, and groups with it that standard English three-act comedy, The Love Chase, which has long been recognized as being on a par with The Rivals and She Stoops to Conquer. The advance sale of seats promises to be very large. Miss Mather's company this year is said to be thoroughly competent.

The Plunger.

Oliver Byron comes to the People's next Monday with his new play, The Plunger, as is announced by quantities of very handsome lithographic work to be seen throughout the city. No expense has been spared in the production, and the details of the mechanical effects are said to be perfect. A New York elevated railroad station, with platforms, rails, ties, and a train in rapid motion; a most terrific thunder and lightning storm, ending in a downpour of real water, and an exact representation of the famous historic "Garfield Hut," are among the scenic novelties promised. Byron is very sure of a big business here.

Brown's Teething Cordial is a reliable medicine, not a quack nostrum.

GREETING TO CLEVELAND.

He is Undoubtedly the Choice of the South.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 3.—Ex-President Cleveland passed through here yesterday en route from New Orleans. At the central station he was given a tremendous ovation.

Fully 5,000 persons were assembled in and about the station, and from the time the train rolled in until it left there was a continuous thunder of applause. Cannons saluted the arrival of the train, and before it had stopped Gov. Northen had stepped aboard and introduced Mr. Cleveland to the multitude.

For 20 minutes he shook hands with the crowd, and in response to calls made a short speech thanking the pepole for their cordial reception and expressing his pleasant remembrance of his visit here five years ago. He had declined all previous invitations to speak, he said, but it would require a man with greater backbone than he was reputed to have to resist such an outpouring.

FITZSIMMONS CAPTURED.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 3.—County Detectve Beltzhoover, of Allegheny county, secured a requisition to-day from Gov. Pattison on the governor of Louisiana for the delivery, under the custody of the Pennsylvania authority, of Fred Fitzsimmons, the murderer who escaped from the Allegheny jail, and was recaptured yesterday in New Orleans.

HE MURDERED HIS WIFE.

A Verdict of Guilty Against Student Harris.

The Death of Helen Potts Will be Avenged.

Sensational Scene in the Court Room When the Jury Brought in the Verdict of Murder in the First Degree.

New York, Feb. 3.—For nearly a month young Carlyle Harris has been on trial here for his life, charged with having poisoned to death his girl-wife, who, at the time of her death, was the inmate of a fashionable boarding school for young women in this city.

The marriage of the two had been kept secret, but the mother of the girl, Mrs. Helen Potts, learned of it and had pressed young Harris, a medical student, to fix a time when the marriage of her child should be made known.

That time was close at hand when the young woman died of morphine poisoning. She was buried. Fifteen days later, rumors of foul play having crept about the Jersey town where the dead girl's home had been, she was taken up and an autopsy made.

Morphine was found in her system. Then the young man Harris was arrested, the marriage was announced, he admitted having given her capsules of morphine and quinine as a nervine, but he tried to cast the blame of his girl-wife's death upon the druggist who prepared the capsules upon Harris' student prescription.

It transpired that the young woman had been, before her demise, brought close to death by one or more criminal operations made by Harris. On the trial which has just ended, it transpired that when the young wife was almost dead on one of these occasions Harris was engaged in libertine orgies with other women, notably in Onondaigua, N. Y.

Evidence that he wished to be rid of his girl wife, and that he dreaded his family should know of his marriage, was introduced. It was proven that he had betrayed other young women, and that he had boasted of his power with girls. Much expert testimony has been introduced, the defense seeking to convince the jury that the young wife died of heart disease.

Finally, at 9:30 o'clock last night, the case was given to the jury. Evidently the 12 men had practically reached a conclusion when they left the court room, for at 10:30 they returned, the foreman announcing: "Guilty of murder in the first degree."

The jury was polled, each declaring his view as the foreman had announced.

Mrs. Harris shrieked and fell to the floor. "My God," she cried, "where is justice?"

"There is no justice on this earth," replied Harris' younger brother, who held his mother in his arms.

"It's a lie that he is guilty, and from such men as these," moaned the grief-stricken woman.

The convicted murderer turned to comfort his mother. "Carl is all right," he whispered to her. "There, mother, it is only for a time. This won't stand."

"The recorder did it," cried Mrs. Harris. The woman was utterly overcome, and it was some time before her younger son and other relatives were able to take her from the court room.

The recorder thanked the jury for the attention they had given the case, and said that from the evidence he did not see how any other verdict could have been found.

A VALUABLE PRIVILEGE.

If you are sick and have not been helped why do you not write a full description of your case to the great specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases, Dr. Greene, of 35 W. Fourteenth street, New York, known everywhere as the discoverer of Dr. Greene's Nervura, and who is without doubt the most successful physician in the cure of all long-standing complaints?

Consultation in all cases is entirely free, personally or by mail. Thousands consult him by letter, and he returns an answer to all perfectly explaining their diseases, giving advice, etc., without charge.

His success in curing diseases by his marvellous vegetable remedies is simply wonderful, and he has made a specialty of the cure of persons at a distance through letter correspondence and treatment. In this manner thousands of people have been and thousands more are being cured, and we should advise you, if you desire a sure cure from your disease, to immediately write him all about your case. It will cost you nothing to get his very valuable advice.

PANTHER IN WOOD COUNTY.

It Has Very Badly Scared Two Persons.

Made Its Appearance in the Oil Country and a Hunt May be Organized to Kill It.

Jerry City, O., Feb. 3.—(Special)—Residents in this vicinity are greatly excited over the appearance some days since of a panther which is roving around in the woods just north of here. Mr. Frank Osborn, who is operator at Station 33 for the Buckeye Pipe Line company, while returning home from his work last Sunday night was greatly startled at a pair of glaring eyes which he saw in his pathway.

Not realizing what the thing was he came nearer and nearer, when the wild beast gave a frantic bound and darted past him.

The astonished operator at once drew his revolver and waited for the beast's return.

In a short time the animal put in an appearance and Mr. Osborn opened fire. The animal gave a cry of pain and disappeared in the woods. Several people here formed themselves in a body and yesterday made a complete search of the woods without any results.

One of the oldest residents here, who has done considerable hunting in the woods, claims to have seen the beast Sunday afternoon, and his description of it shows it to be a panther.

The woods in question where the animal frequents is one of the most desolate and dreary spots in Wood county. There is no one living in the immediate vicinity, and aside from the operators at Station 33, the place is seldom inhabited.

The story throughout was at first regarded as a hoax, but the fact that two persons have seen the animal within the past two days lends color to it.

Shakespeare will please excuse us if we modify him thus: Thrice is he clad who hath his system strengthened with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and he but naked, though arrayed in furs, whose blood is poor or with disease corrupted. An incomparable medicine!

COAST DEFENSE

And Refuge Harbors Under Joint Consideration.

Washington, Feb. 3.—Secretary Elkins sent to the house to-day the report of the commission of engineers upon an examination for a harbor of refuge suitable for deep draft vessels near the mouth of Delaware bay.

The plan and the location proposed for the formation of a deep water harbor of refuge at this locality contemplates the construction of a stone breakwater one and a half miles long extending in a general northwest and southwest direction on the east branch of a row of ten ice peers at the upper end of the harbor, to protect the anchors against ice in the bay. The total cost of the work is estimated at $4,660,000.

The commission in their report say that one of the important characteristics of a harbor of refuge is that it can be made capable of defense.

THE NEWS FROM FINDLAY.

Stock Subscribed for a New Factory.

Tax Inquisitors to Drive Capital Out of Hancock County—Interesting General News.

Findlay, O., Feb. 3.—(Special)—The Christian Alliance association, comprising a large section of this part of the country, is holding a three days' session in this city in the old U. B. church, with a large number of delegates present. This associaton believes in perfect holiness, and the converts to the faith have no desire to sin. The meetings are open and free for everybody to attend. There are a number of this faith resident in this city and vicinity.

New Canning Factory.

Home capitalists have secured nearly $7,000 in stock subscription for the establishing of a large canning factory here the coming summer. The promoters are almost sanguine of success. The new industry will give employment to a large number of people.

STIMULATE THE BLOOD.

Brandreth's Pills are the great blood purifier. They are a purgative and blood tonic, they act equally on the bowels, the kidneys, and the skin, thus cleansing the system by the natural outlet of the body—they may be called the purgative sudorific and diuretic medicine. They stimulate the blood so as to enable nature to throw off all morbid humors, and cure disease no matter by what name it may be called. One or two of them taken every night will prove an infallible remedy.

Sold in every drug and medicine store, either plain or sugar coated.

"JOHN ANDERSON, MY JOE,"

In the Scotch ballad, was about to totter down the declivity of life with his aged wife. How it would have smoothed the rough places for the respected John and his venerable spouse could they have eased their growing infirmities with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, that benign help to the aged, the weak and those recovering but slowly from exhausting diseases. When the lamp of life is on the wane man specially requires medicinal aid, a sustaining tonic, a wholesome corrective. The aged and feeble are particularly susceptible to influences which produce disease, convalescence is too often interrupted by a relapse. This standard American invigorant is eminently adapted to the needs of such persons, and it always "fills the bill." Dyspepsia, constipation, rheumatism, kidney troubles and la grippe are among the troubles that it overcomes.

KILLED BY HIS SON.

A Drunken Father Shot Dead in His Home.

He Struck His Wife and the Sixteen-Year-Old Boy Defended Her with a Revolver.

Savannah, Ga., Feb. 3.—David Porter, deputy collector of customs at Savannah, was shot and killed by his 16-year-old son at 1 o'clock yesterday morning at Porter's residence.

Porter went home late under the influence of liquor and being chided by his wife struck her. His daughter interfered, and then young Porter ran to a bureau, and taking out a loaded revolver fired at his father.

The father turned on the son, and both fell on the floor together. In the struggle for the pistol young Porter shot twice again, the last shot penetrating his father's breast near the heart. He staggered to his feet and into the next room and fell into a rocking chair and died.

The boy ran into the street and called to a neighbor that he had shot his father. He then summoned the family physician and then walked to police headquarters and surrendered.

He did not know for some time that he had killed his father, as he left his home as soon as he fired the shot. In talking of the affair in his cell, he said: "If I have killed my father, that is, if he dies of his wounds, I have it to say from his own lips that I did right. A few years ago in speaking in my presence about a young man killing his father in this city for beating his mother, my father, in a reply to a remark that the young man must regret his crime continually, said: 'Never; he may regret the necessity, but never the act.'"

The patricide was cool and collected in all he said.

BACCILLI IN BLOOD.

Recent experiments as read before the last Congress of Surgeons at Berlin, leave no doubt that the true way to CLEAR THE SYSTEM OF MICROBI is through the pores of the skin. It has been found that a remedy which kills the Microbi will also destroy the life of the patient; but it has also been found that the Microbi can be forced out through the skin, and it is in this way that S.S.S. relieves the system of poison.

HAVING SUFFERED much from Contagious Blood Poison, after using half a dozen bottles of S.S.S. I was RESTORED TO PERFECT HEALTH, and all eruptive sores disappeared. You are at liberty to make any use of my statement that you wish.—J. CROSBY BYRON, 208 Third Avenue, Pittsburg, Pa.

"The Triumph of Love is Happy and Fruitful Marriage."

A TREATISE FOR MEN ONLY ON

PHYSICAL DEBILITY AND ATROPHY

A BOOK FOR MEN, MARRIED AND SINGLE.

A full explanation of a wonderful method for the quick restoration of PERFECT MANHOOD, in all that the term implies.

A method that overcomes EVERY EVIL CONDITION of the male system, giving to the weakest organs and parts their UTMOST NATURAL VIGOR and TONE, and to those shrunken and stunted their FULL and PROPER SIZE.

IT EXPLAINS how to build up all "manly" vigor.

IT EXPLAINS how to build up all bodily vigor.

IT EXPLAINS how to preserve all mental vigor.

IT EXPLAINS how to avoid all the physical evils of married life.

IT EXPLAINS how to cure most bladder, kidney and urinary diseases.

IT EXPLAINS how to cure bodily failing, in any stage, for all time.

IT EXPLAINS how to cure unnatural losses from dreams, in urine, &c.

IT EXPLAINS how to cure mind-wandering, forgetfulness, confusion of ideas.

IT EXPLAINS how to cure nervousness, trepidation, lack of self-confidence.

IT EXPLAINS how to cure varicocele (swollen, tender, sagging veins and parts.

IT EXPLAINS how to give tone, to remove excitability, to overcome sensitiveness, to remove physical and mental irritability.

IT EXPLAINS how the entire physical system of the male may be brought to that condition so essential to general good health and peace of mind.

IT EXPLAINS how to be self-controlling, self-respecting, to be free from degrading thoughts, superior to debasing inclinations, to feel "A VERY KING AMONG MEN."

IT EXPLAINS how to develop, strengthen, enlarge all weak, stunted, undeveloped, feeble organs and parts of the body which have lost or never attained a proper and natural size, whether due to early errors, ill-health or natural causes. (A simple, infallible, MECHANICAL method, endorsed by physicians.)

To many, this book is uninteresting and valueless, being a PURELY MEDICAL TREATISE; to others, to those whose welfare is at stake, IT IS ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT PUBLICATIONS EVER ISSUED FROM THE PRESS.

☞To simple curiosity seekers it is not worth the trouble of writing for and we will not send it to such if we know it. But we will cheerfully mail ONE COPY SEALED IN PLAIN ENVELOPE, POSTAGE PAID AND ENTIRELY FREE OF ANY CHARGE, to the man who writes for it in good faith, either for his own use or for some friend.

☞Beware of petty quacks and all their schemes; don't even answer a medical advertisement (or you may be sorry) till you have studied this remarkable book. Notice to Contractors

Lagrange Street Paving.

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, up to 12 o'clock at noon of Monday,

THE 15TH DAY OF FEBRUARY, 1892,

for improving Lagrange street from the paving at Champlain street to the paving at Bancroft street by paving the central thirty-five feet thereof with either cedar blocks, vitrified fire brick or Medina stone, together with the necessary grading, curbing, gutters, crosswalks, drainage, etc.

That the contractor or contractors who shall do the work herein provided for shall be paid in cash within ninety days after completion of the work and acceptance thereof by the city.

All bids must be written with ink and the price of each item shall be written out in full as well as in figures. Each bid must contain the full name of every person interested in the same. All parties filing bids for the matters specified in this notice, must deposit with the city clerk on each bid the sum of four hundred dollars. All deposits to be in cash or certified check on a bank doing a regular banking business in the city of Toledo, and accompanied by an agreement signed by the bidder and two disinterested persons, guaranteeing that, if the bid is accepted, a contract will be entered into—otherwise the amount deposited to be forfeited to the city; and in case a contract is entered into, said deposit to remain until the first estimate of work done, (or double the amount of deposit), is reported to the Common Council.

Bidders will be required to indorse their names on the outside of the envelope containing their proposal, and what the bid is for, the same to be filed with the city clerk. Bids not filed in accordance with the above requirements will be rejected.

Blank bids and envelopes can be obtained of the undersigned or of the city civil engineer.

Bidders must specify the time within which they will commence and complete the work after the acceptance of their bid.

Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the city civil engineer.

The council reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

By order of the council.

A TENDERFOOT.

"Speakin'—of—tenderfeet," said Jim Harden, as with a critical air he packed the tobacco in the bowl of his pipe, preparatory to relighting that article—"speakin' of tenderfeet reminds me of one I knowed oncet, sence which time I hev be'n a whole lot more respective in speakin' of 'em.

"'Twas in the summer of 18—. I was then workin' fer Ole Harvey Skerrett, who kep' store an' run a ranch down at Three Forks, in th' foothills.

"Near Skerrett, 'bout two miles away, ole Si Hendershott hed a ranch. He likewise hed 'bout th' purtiest an' nicest darter thet ever wore millinery, and Si, he was proper proud of her, you bet. Moreovermore, all of us galoots 'round Three Forks was up to our back hair in love with her—plumb, tearin', wide-awake mashed, as I've heard say. But it didn't do none of us no good—leastways, only one of us. That war Perry Roane, a young rancher from down th' creek 'bout ten mile. Perry, he cut us all out 'thout half tryin', 'cause he was a big, han'some cuss an' well fixed, besides havin't been t' school lots when a kid. So he went in an' winned—almost. That is t' say, he froze us out an' kep' rek'lar company with Hetty.

"I guess 'twas all settled that they was t' be hitched some time or other, when 'bout May along come a feller from Boston with a letter to Ole Si from some relation o' his'n, an' jes' camped right at Si's fer th' summer. He was one of these artist chumps—not a real, genooine fottygrapher, but one of th' sort that carries a lot of paper an' pencils an' colors in little lead squirt guns, an' draws red, white an' blue sunsets, likewise funny lookin' trees an' bowlders. He talked like a book and called all th' boys 'Mister,' besides saying 'beg parding' if he didn't hear what ye said first time.

"Sure 'nough, we guyed th' chap lots at first, but Spenceley—that wuz th' tenderfoot's name—was so doggoned nice an' pleasant an' took a joke so easy, we all got t' likin' him tiptop. All 'xcept Perry Roane. He hated him lots soon's he seen him. 'Cause why? Jest 'cause Spenceley was under th' same roof with Hetty, an' he knowed right then—which nobody else did—that Hetty wa'n't much stuck on him, anyhow, an' had only promised t' marry him t' please th' ole man. Ye see Perry was a good deal of a bully, an' drank considerable, an' then there was an ole story 'bout his havin' skipped out from th' states, leavin' a wife that died a little later. But this didn't cut no figger with Si. He had his eye on Perry's pile; an' was willing t' take chances on makin' Perry treat Hetty first rate ,'cause th' ole man was a toler'ble dangerous cuss himself.

"Well, th' artist feller go t' feelin' sort of soft on Hetty himself, an' 'most ev'ry day they'd go wanderin' 'round th' country, drawin' an' fishin', an' so on, an' in th' evenin' when Perry came over t' set awhile he'd find Mister Artist there in th' settin' room, cool as a cucumber an' polite as polite, him not knowin' that Perry had a first filin' on th' calico. An' Hetty, just like any woman, 'njoyed it all immense.

"But Perry wasn t th' chap t' stand this very long; so one mornin', happenin' t' be at th' store an' meetin' Spenceley there, he walks up and says t' him: 'See here, my pale-faced and weak-eyed consumptive. D'ye know whose toes you've been steppin' on?'

"Spenceley looked at him kind of queer, but said he didn't know as he'd hurt anybody.

"'Well,' said Perry, 'it's my toes, and it'll pay you to climb from under 'fore something drops on ye. D'ye know who has th' first claim on Miss Hendershott's company? Better find out and take care of yourself.' And Perry started t' go out, swaggering, but th' artist says, real sharp, 'Mr. Roane, I wasn't aware that I was interfering with you. If I am, however, and you don't like it, I'm sorry; but I wish you t' understand that nyther youd n'r any other rowdy can bluff me one bit. D'ye understand?'

"Perry turned like he'd been kicked. It was th' first time we'd ever heerd him sassed, and we was lookin' fer th' artist feller t' get bruised a whole lot. But he wasn't—not any. Perry looked at him a whole minute and seen there was no scare there, so he just turned and walked out, grumbling and cursing.

"Somebody hid, took a shot at Spenceley a few nights later, but he never kicked none, only come up t' th' store an' blowed hisself in for a forty-four an' took shots at a mark ev'ry day—jes' fer sport, he sez; but I kinder s'mised he was 'xpectin' Mr. Roane an' him'd hev trouble in th' near foechur, which was c'rect.

"One day, not long arter this some galoot brung word thet th' 'Paches was out 'thout muzzles, an' was chawin' ev'rythin' in sight—an' moreovermore, comin' our way, and not fur off, nuther. Nope, we didn't wait none. Me'n the ole man jes' tuk all th' dust in th' box, hid all th' stock we could, nailed up th' shop—'twas stone—an' lit out fer Hendershott's t' tell them. Thar Skerrett leaves me, him havin' the fastest little mustang in the kentry, an' goes on t' tell folks, ez many ez he kin.

"Wa-al. Hendershott's folks was ready, real sudden, only Old Si, he wouldn't go. Sez he: 'I hain't goin' one foot. This here's all I've got, 'cept the ole lady an' Hetty, an' I'm goin' t' stay right here an' hold it. Ef them women hed me an' no ranch they'd be wuss off nor nothin.' An' thar Ole Si stayed an' bundled me 'n' th' artist an' the wimmen folks off fer Chloride quick. Th' wimmen was in a light waggin, little Jose, a Greaser kid, drivin', an' two Greaser girls on th' back seat. Me 'n' Spenceley rid the bronco back 'longside.

"'Long in the arternoon 'bout 3, we looked over south, an' here come a feller on hossback, like a streak o' greased lightnin', throwin' dust like th' very dooce—a back o' him, 'bout two 'r three miles, come 'bout a dozen 'r fifteen fellers—near as we c'd guess—also kickin' up a big cloud.

"'Twas a good ten mile t' Chloride and we thought we was goners, fer of course we didn't s'pose them last fellers was nothin' but Injuns.

"Spenceley set his teeth an' looked at his guns, an' so did I. Then he rid up t' th' waggin, give Hetty a six-shooter, sayin' somethin' I didn't hear, and told th' boy t' make them mules fly. Then he come back whar I wuz an' sez real quiet. 'D'ye think we kin hold 'em off long enough, Mr. Harden?' I guessed yes, but great Scott! didn't I wish I was outer that!

"Th' lone chap come racin' up. 'Twas Perry Roane, whiter'n a gravestone. He didn't stop, only yelled 'Injuns!' an' kep' on going, not stoppin' t' say 'Hello!' t' Hetty in th' waggin—jes' kep' on, headed for Chloride. Th' artist turned t' me in a minute, with his mouth curled up an' sez, 'Stampeded!'

"We waited, all ready for them Injuns, but when they come up th' blood sort of come back t' my heart agen, cause we o'd see a mile off thet they was white—surveyors an' cowboys some stampeded theirselves, we foun' out.

"Things got quiet in a day 'r so, fer it happened thet Uncle Sam hed a lot o' sojers lyin' in camp near Chloride, an' th' way they kep' them Injuns movin' back south was real lively.

"Wal, in a week 'r so up come Mister Roane, jes 'z big ez life, an' ez clipper, an' goes t' Henderschott's when th' old folks was at th' store and Spenceley out ridin'. I reckon him an' Hetty jes' hed a real lovely row. He had th' gall t' tell 'er thet he was jes' ridin' fer a doctor fer a sick cowboy, an' hadn't heard o' no Injuns. Hetty was onto him, though, an' talked real rough t' the cuss, I reckon.

"'Bout 5 o'clock little Jose come ridin' t' th' store in a hurry, an' tole us he hed be'n listenin' t' Hetty an' Roane talkin', an' all of a sudden he heerd a little scream. Nex' thing he seen Roane carryin' Hetty outer th' door an' puttin' 'er in his buggy—she lookin' like she'd fainted—an' Roane druv off, an' Jose lit out fer th' store meetin' Spenceley on the' way, an' tellin' him.

"Th' ole man an' I gussed th' same thing—he'd doped th' girl with chloryform, 'r somethin', an' lit out for Mineral Point, whar Eph Hines a justice of th' peace lived. I don't know how we come t' think of it, but I hed read o' sech things, an' so had Si, I reckon. Lord, but th' ole chap looked tur'ble! He didn't say nothin', but he looked like he was thinkin' lots and it didn't take me'n him long t' git t' Mineral Point, 15 mile—bad trail, too. When we got near th' burg Ole Si loosened up, an' ef he didn't cuss for 15 minutes I'm a jay.

"We rid up t' Hines' ready t' shoot, an' Si kicked th' door open, an' there, on th' floor, lyin' tied han's an' feet, was Perry Roane—an' Spenceley, kind of illustrated, but smilin', riz up, an' pointin' t' Hettie, who was settin' in a cheer, lookin' kind of pale, sez, 'gentlemen, let me interjuce my wife.'

"'Twas this way: Roane—he's doin' time now—hedn't drugged th' gyarl, only gagged 'er, an', between thar an' th' point, hed made 'er promise t' marry him an' make no fuss 'r else he'd kill him an' her both—an' he meant it. Hines was jest gettin' ready fer th' performance when Spenceley rid up. Perry reached for his gun, but Spenceley was too sudden, an' caught 'im in th' gun arm, an' him, an' Hines, who tumbled at oncet, tied th' cuss, arter which he ast Hetty t' marry him on th' spot, an' she done it.

"'Twas this way: Roane—he's doin'

SENATORS AT PRAYER.

A Study of Washington Statesmen in the Attitude of Devotion.

The United States senate at prayer presents a study for the curious who love to inquire into the peculiarities, whimsicalities and oddities of the great. Promptly when the clock indicates the hour of noon the vice-president and the chaplain enter the senate; the latter ascends to the stand of the presiding officer, standing below him, gives one rap with the gavel, and then the prayer proceeds with a good deal of suggestion of lip service. Mr. Morton is an eminently respectable looking man. It would be an impossibility for him to commit an act of indecorum. He would make an admirable lord mayor of London. His attitude is that of devotion, without any degree of humility. Of the senators, Messrs. Palmer, Hawley, Paddock and Gibson of Louisiana, throw all the devotion and humility in the service that the law allows.

One continually expects to hear an unctuous amen from each of them at any moment during the services. Sawyer, Hoar, Morrill, Sherman, Frye, Allison, Ransom, Vest, Vance, Cameron and Butler are careless and unconcerned and somewhat bored. Washburn keeps his seat and yawns visibly, if not audibly, two or three times before the final amen; Brice, also, keeps his seat, out bends his head on his hand Methodist probation fashion. Stanford, too, keeps his seat for the sufficient reason that he is very weak in his pins, he having No. 5 legs and No. 12 trunk. Hiscock is the most bored man in the senate while the devotional exercises are under way. He glances around the chamber, scans the galleries and seems to be completely exhausted. With an immense stomach for biscuit, a big head for thought and a powerful frame for action, Hiscock was born lazy, and has never grown out of it. But for that he would have been speaker of the house in 1881, and but for that he would have been a big man in the senate. As for his colleague, Hill, he is not in it at the hour of prayer. He seems to have undertaken to do all the watching for the country, and, perhaps it would be too much to impose any praying on him. He remains in the cloak-room until the senate is ready for business, and, during business hours, he is kept busy receiving congratulations from members of the house who come over to worship what seems to be the rising sun. Quay, doubtless, through association with Wanamaker, has learned to assume an easy, if not graceful attitude—a happy medium between humility and carelessness. It is notable that the senate never fills up till after the chaplain yields the chair to the vice-president.—Washington Letter to the Courier-Journal.

By trifling with a cold, many a one allows himself to drift into a condition favorable to the development of some latent disease, which thereafter takes full possession of the system. Better cure your cold at once with Dr. D. Jayne's Expectorant, a good remedy for throat-ails and lung affections.

COMFORTS AND INCOMES.

The comforts of life, at the rate they are increasing, bid fair to bury us soon, as Tarpeia was buried under the shields of her friends the Sabines. Mr. Hamerton, in speaking of the increase of comfort in England, groans at the "trying strain of expense to which our extremely high standard of living subjects all except the rich." It makes each individual of us very costly to keep, and constantly tempts people to concentrate on the maintenance of fewer individuals means that would in simpler times be divided among many. "My grandfather," said a modern, the other day, "left $200,000. He was considered a rich man in those days, but, dear me, he supported four or five families—all his needy relations and all my grandmother's." Think of an income of $10,000 a year being equal to such a strain, and providing suitably for a rich man's large family in the bargain! It wouldn't go far now, and yet most of the reasonable necessaries of life cost less to-day than they did two generations ago. The difference is that we need so very many comforts that were not invented in our grandfathers' time.—Scribner's Magazine.

THE ABBE MAURY.

A famous proof of Maury's readiness was his retort on the brutal Parisian mob which hunted him through the streets of Paris with the shout, "A la lanterne!" "And when you have hung me a la lanterne will you see any better?" A retort which saved his life. On one occasion a wretch armed with a cleaver pursued him, but without recognizing him, saying: "Where is that Abbe Maury? I will send him to say mass in hell!" The abbe stopped, and, seizing his pistols, said: "Yes, but you shall come and serve me there; see, here are my cruets," (the two vessels for the water and the wine). The populace applauded heartily, and he walked off triumphant. Some of those terrible market women, the dames de la halle, were "cheeking" him good-humoredly: "You speak of an angel, M. l'Abbe, but spite of it all you are a fool." "Quite right, mesdames; but one does not die for that!"

In the tribune he exhibited the most undaunted composure in spite of the vehement interruptions of his adversaries, the yells and cries of those whom popularity-hunters designate "our masters." "Obtain me a hearing," he shouted to Mirabeau across the tempestuous sea of heads, "if you believe you can really triumph over my principles, for in the midst of this tumult you only triumph over my lungs." Mirabeau, shaking his fist at him, vociferated, "There is the greatest rogue I know!" "Oh, Monsieur de Mirabeau," rejoined Maury, "you forget yourself."—The Gentleman's Magazine.

HEAD OF THE SMITHSONIAN.

Col. Wm. Preston Johnston, who has just been placed at the head of the Smithsonian institute, will, says the Illustrated American, bring to the discharge of his new duties, qualities of discipline and learning developed in years of service at the Tulane university of Louisiana.

He is the son of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, who was mortally wounded while leading a brilliant and successful charge against Grant's forces at Shiloh, on April 6, 1862.

Col. Johnston himself served in the confederate army, and bears conspicuous evidence of his daring in the total lack of hair, eyebrows and eyelashes, which were destroyed by an explosion of a mine over which the colonel was caught in an attack.

USES STRANGE OATHS.

Prince George Adept in the Use of Sailor Swear Words.

Commander Robinson, R. N., who has enjoyed unusual opportunities of intimacy with Prince George in the way of official association, expresses his belief that the new heir presumptive will retire from the navy and realize his long-cherished wish to enter the army.

Despite the denials that have from time to time appeared: it remains true that the prince has frequently rebelled against a naval career, and the clashing between his wishes and those of his father and the queen recently reached a climax, the prince declaring that he would not serve in the navy any longer unless given a first-class command, as he was tired of being an underling, especially in a service that was, even at the best, distasteful to him as compared with that of the army. The change in his position which has now occurred, will, of course, cause greater deference to be paid to his wishes, and he will no doubt, soon be transferred to a suitable rank in the army.

It is stated that Prince George has a strong feeling of antipathy for the newspaper press, resembling in this respect the Duke of Cambridge. He is honest and frank in his manners, albeit, rather rough.

In conversation he is anything but refined, and makes frequent use of "strange oaths," evidently learned in all parts of the world, and among all the peoples that his wandering sailor life has led him among.

HOW MONEY CIRCULATES.

There would be more bills paid in this world if the people would only stop to realize how much more profitable it is for all concerned to keep the money in circulation.

Here is an example how money circulates from one man to another, although it is not often that you can keep track of a bank bill on its travels in this way. A Portland merchant owed $2 to a shopkeeper.

The shopkeeper called at the merchant's place of business and received a two-dollar bill. A little later he used the bill to pay a debt of $2 which he owed to a laborer.

The laborer went at once and paid a debt of $2 which he owed his grocer. The grocer gave the $2 bill to a painter.

It chanced that this painter owed $1.50 to the first-named shopkeeper. The painter paid the debt, and the shopkeeper discovered that the identical bill which he had paid out in the morning had come back to him.

This $2 bill had paid $9.50 worth of debts, and the original holder had his money back.—Bangor Commercial.

COLUMBUS' WIFE.

The Chicago Tribune, which thinks that the wife of Columbus has been neglected, gives this sketch of her: "Columbus was married in 1470, or thereabouts, to a Miss Palestrello, of Lisbon, whose father had distinguished himself as a navigator. A part of Miss Palestrello's dowry was a great collection of valuable charts, journals and important memoranda. From childhood she had displayed wonderful enthusiasm on the subject, partaking to a marked degree of the speculative and adventuresome ideas and schemes in the line of geographical discovery for which Lisbon was then headquarters. She possessed a fine education, and was widely known as a brainy, brilliant woman, who was constantly urging her husband on in the path which finally brought him to the wonderful goal with which we are so familiar. While a girl Miss Palestrello made a number of hazardous voyages with her father to unfamiliar waters, and later many geographical drawings, several of which were used with great profit by Columbus when he had won her for his wife and set out upon his more important wanderings on the great deep. There is probably no picture of this brave, talented woman extant, but certainly it would seem a gracious and most fitting thing that her memory receive some tribute upon the forthcoming occasion."

TWO BABY HYENAS.

The first hyenas to be born in captivity in this part of the country made their appearance in Central Park yesterday morning, says the New York Recorder, and mother and twins are doing uncommonly well. The youngsters closely resemble their mother in appearance, while in appetite they take after their sire. The latter and his "good lady" came from South America about three years ago, and their single cross in all that time was their childless condition. The mother's keeper has always been very kind to her, and as a result she will allow no one but him to do anything now for her or her little ones.

A MUSKRAT FARM.

When a Marion (O.) boy attempted to kill a muskrat, caught in a steel trap, a few days ago, the animal showed fight, and as it gave a death wail the banks of the creek seemed to be fairly alive with the little animals as they came to the assistance of their companion. The boy was attacked on all sides, and was getting badly scratched and bitten, when his dog, which had been chasing a rabbit, came to his assistance and proceeded to battle with the enraged animals. In less than five minutes 17 of the muskrats were lying around dead, while the rest scampered to a place of safety.

Third ward "extra" Republican club last evening elected delegates to the league convention at Columbus on the 12th, as follows: L. W. Morris, H. W. Wilhelm, A. D. Fassett, T. W. Wheeler, W. A. Mills.

MILK CRUST ON BABY

Kept Spreading Until His Face Was a Raw Sore. He Scratched Until Blood Ran.

Best Physicians Said No Cure While Teething. He Was Cured Promptly by Cuticura.

Something over two years ago, our boy, then less than one year old, was troubled with an eruption on his head, pronounced by our best physicians to be a case of "milk crust or infantile eczema." They also said that it would be impossible to cure it until after he had finished teething. This malady kept spreading until his face was a raw sore, and every few days he would draw his finger nails down on both cheeks, removing the scabs, and the blood running down on his chin made him present a ghastly sight. We commenced using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in two weeks we noticed a wonderful improvement, and in two months his face was fresh and fair, and has been perfectly well ever since. We unhesitatingly give all credit to CUTICURA.

C. B. WILLIAMS, Fort Dodge, Iowa.

Scaly Humor 17 Years.

I was afflicted for seventeen years with a scaly and blotchy humor over my entire breast. At times I would scratch till soreness compelled me to cease. After reading your advertisements at different times, I concluded to give CUTICURA a trial, and, to my astonishment as well as satisfaction, I was cured with one set of CUTICURA REMEDIES, in about two and a half weeks. That has been nearly two years since, and no symptoms of return.

OPENING WHEELING & LAKE ERIE TO WHEELING.

Monday, February 1, the Wheeling & Lake Erie railway will change its time schedule, opening its new line through to the city of Wheeling, W. Va., and crossing the new Terminal company's bridge between Martin's Ferry and Wheeling. Train No. 5, leaving Toledo at 7:45 a. m., will run through, arriving in Wheeling at 5:10 p. m., and train No. 6, leaving Wheeling at 8:45 a. m., will reach Toledo at 6:25 p. m.

In addition to this service there will be three trains each way between Wheeling and Steubenville.

The only change in time of trains out of Toledo is No. 9, which will leave Toledo at 4:50 p. m., Sundays, instead of 5:20 p. m.

STAR COURSE PATRONS

Are reminded that holders of $3 season tickets can reserve seats now for the Walter Emerson concert, thus avoiding the crowd. Holders of other tickets can reserve seats Thursday morning, at Freeman's.

A TRUTH FROM "TRUTH."

The New York Central is really first-class in all its appointments. Think of it, it has four tracks laid with the heaviest of steel rails in the most substantial manner, and when you are sleeping or lounging around in one of their superb Wagner cars, and flying along at the rate of nearly a mile a minute, as some of their fast expresses do, you will hardly realize that you are moving, so excellent is the permanent way. A short time ago a special train made the run from New York to Buffalo at the rate of a mile a minute the entire distance.

THE WAY TO GO.

You have seen California frequently mentioned in newspapers and magazines. Perhaps a friend has been there and writes enthusiastic letters back home about the climate and the fruits. It makes you anxious to see the country for yourself.

The time to go is in the fall and winter. Then work here is least pressing and California climate is most pleasing. The way to go is via Santa Fe route, on one of that line's popular, personally-conducted parties, leaving Chicago every Saturday evening and leaving Kansas City every Sunday morning.

Special agents and porters in attendance. Pullman tourist sleepers are used, furnished with bedding, mattresses, toilet articles, etc. Second-class tickets honored. Write to Geo. E. Gilman, Michigan Passenger Agent Santa Fe route, for folder describing these excursions.

LAND EXCURSION TO DELHI, LA.

The C., H. & D. will sell excursion tickets February 17, from all points on the line between Lima and Toledo, inclusive, to Delhi, La., at one fare for the round trip. Tickets will be good going only on February 17, and good returning for 30 days from date of sale.

SOME CAUSES OF GRAY HAIR.

Many of the young men become gray in front and on the sides of their heads without knowing exactly what causes the change. Pulling out the hair makes it gray. It often happens that clerks, bookkeepers and persons of sedentary occupations pluck at their hair or beard while at work. They need not be surprised if in a few months they find themselves turning gray, for the plucked out hairs are almost certain to be followed by white ones.
